

'Center City' Not Popular With 'Old Daly City' Residents

By FRANK LAPIERRE

"Old Daly City" is no more. It has been unceremoniously replaced by "Centercity."

The new name is more politically acceptable — at least to politicians.

But the residents of Old Daly City, are violently proud of the fact they live in the original section of what is now San Mateo County's second largest city.

It will be hard for them to accept the new name in the name of progress.

Being in the "old" part of the city often denotes a person can trace his residency back to the pre-Doelger developer days, back when Westlake was cabbage patches and sand dunes and the area that is now the Westlake Shopping Center was a swimming hole.

They're quick to tell you this too!

And just because some writer wipes out an entire section of the city with a single slash of his pencil doesn't mean 20,000 people will overnight start telling folks they live in the "Centercity" part of Daly City.

It may take years, even generations, and perhaps complete redevelopment before folks start referring to their homes as being in the "Centercity area."

Where did the name come from? Certainly not from the fact that the area in question is in the "center" of Daly City.

For "Centercity" is an area roughly bounded by the San Francisco County limits, Mission street, Junipero Serra Freeway and the Jefferson High school.

In light of this it might be more appropriate to retile "Centercity," formerly known as "Old Daly City," to "North Daly City."

But this obviously wouldn't be romantic enough.

Usually directional titles, such as North, South, East or West, connote industry, railroad yards and worse. Example: South San Francisco, "The Industrial City."

Even if the name changers decided that Old Daly City might right better if it were called "Oceanview" or "Parkside" (the latter because of Marchbanks Park), it's doubtful the residents would use it.

This is not to say they are not interested in the future of their area.

It indicates they have little feeling for image-making names simply for the sake of image.

There are some residents of the area that have used the Junipero Serra Freeway as a barrier to split the city. To them "Westlake" means "new city" while they live in the "old."

And now their way of life, their neighborhoods, and perhaps even their future residency in Daly City is being threatened by redevelopment.

Four years ago, in 1968, the City Council adopted the General Plan — two years in the making.

The Plan referred to Centercity, but very lightly. With the emergence of redevelopment the name has been dragged out again and dusted off. It is being mouthed continually by those closely associated with redevelopment, especially in public meetings and written material on the subject.

Recently a new booklet was published by Daly City aimed at enlightening residents on a redevelopment study program now underway in "Centercity."

The booklet attempts to explain in a dozen pages of writing and photos why this area is being studied and what could happen in a three phase development program.

It tells of money for relocation; how the agency will assist those that might have to move, and why the council is zeroing in on that section of the city.

"The Centercity, like so many other sections in other cities, is falling into the vicious spiral of deterioration and apathy," the booklet offers.

"The goal of the Agency is simple: to curb the deterioration, the gradual disintegration of the centercity."

"If the goal can be achieved, new business can be brought in, creating new jobs, and everyone will benefit."

There are many longtime residents who can go along with redevelopment — or rehabilitation — as long as it's carried out in "old Daly City" and not in "Centercity."

Costs Bewilder Council

Enthusiasm for New DC Plunge Draining Away?

An obvious crack in relations between Architect Zavin Tatari and the Daly City City Council has developed in recent weeks and enthusiasm for a proposed swimming pool at Westmoor High School has all but drained away.

The Jefferson Union High School District and Daly City had retained Tatari to design an Olympic-sized swimming pool at Westmoor to be used by students and the general public.

The budget for the enclosed pool had been set at slightly below $600,000 one year ago.

Explaining the dramatically increased costs of construction and inflation to a joint meeting of both boards several months ago, coupled with some redesign features, Tatari was able to secure a higher budget.

But by year's end—in late fall of 1971—the final pre-bid budget figure had jumped to a total project cost of $730,767.67.

Bids were called for and only three firms submitted their price for the pool that had been several years in the planning and talking stage.

Lowest bid was for some $1.2 million — almost double the original allotment of taxpayers' money.

Monday Tatari attempted to explain the higher bids to a bewildered city council.

After almost an hour of discussion on the issue Mayor Bernard Lycett called the discussion to an end and informed the architect the city would call him after they studied the matter further.

Tatari said there were three avenues open to the council and school board if they wanted to proceed with the pool construction: Complete redesign, put the matter out to another bid, or obtain a construction manager.

The last option was recommended by Tatari.

He said "this would result in the best project for the least amount of money."

Using this technique a pool "substantially conforming to the present design" could be built for $825,000. This figure could be dropped to $795,000 if the therapeutic pool was omitted.

The therapeutic pool was included in the plans for the old and handicapped residents.

The architect went on to explain how such a "manager" operated in conjunction with the architect and holds a firm hand on price controls, construction technology and overall supervision of the project.

Councilman McRobert Stewart made the strongest criticism of the meeting when he said the bid of $1.2 million was a "bombshell" and added "I think we made a mistake in hiring the wrong architect."

Likewise, Councilman Anthony Giamonna, a member of the pool committee, rapped the architect and said the bid breakdowns were "way out of line."

Giamonna asked "how come there is only one bid, unless someone got together to set the prices?"

There was no answer. It was the holiday season and (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

New Bruno Manager To Suggest Changes In Planning Methods

City Manager Gerald Minford told the San Bruno planning commission Monday that he is preparing a set of recommendations to the city council for some drastic changes in planning procedures.

The chief change he would recommend would be for some kind of "supplemental staff." He did not specify what kind of staff he meant except to indicate that it would be a matter of finding some money in next year's budget.

He told the planners that he felt it was necessary to present to both the city council and the planning commission a written report on the planning matters before them — and for this some kind of staff would be needed. He noted that planning commission Secretary Melvin Bredlow was already overburdened with his building inspection duties owing to the great amount of building now in progress.

Fire Chief Promotion Rules Set

South San Francisco councilmen on Monday adopted prerequisites for those men of the fire department planning to take a promotional examination for chief.

The city staff recommended promotion from within the ranks to fill the position of Fire Chief John Marchi who will be retiring this spring. Councilmen approved of the closed departmental exam.

Requirements include at least eight years in the department with three of those years in a supervisory position. The candidates also must have at least 15 college units or a fire science certificate.

Councilman Warren Steinkamp questioned whether that would be sufficient educational requirements and City Manager Gale Dreisbach said that if educational requirements were too stringent there would be a problem of having a sufficient number of candidates taking the test.

Mayor Bill Borba noted that only seven members of the fire department have taken advantage of the city merit system allowing those employees to obtain college credits at the expense of the city.

No date was set for the examinations.

Minford — who has been the first city manager attending the planning commission meetings — had apparently not intended to tell about his plans. However, the planners were about to act on a motion by Bob Tonnesen to ask the city council to relieve the planning commission chairman of having to make a report of the planners' actions to the city council and answer councilmen's questions. Bill Cox, who assumed the chairmanship upon Victor Ogrey's unexpected resignation last week, had complained that he did not feel that he could always give an unbiased report of the planners to the council. He noted that the previous system did not work either—that of the council representative reporting — since one council representative never attended and another never said anything.

This statement moved Councilman Neil Christal to anger. He pointed out that when former Councilman Dick Griffith spoke at a planning meeting, he was reprimanded by the city attorney.

Minford finally asked the planners to make no recommendation to the council until he completed his own recommendations.

The planners voted upon one change in procedure to eliminate a possibility, pointed out by Leon Miller, that one planning commissioner could approve an architectural plan. This could happen if he were a member of a three-man architectural committee. (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

SF Policeman Dies in Crash

An off-duty San Francisco policeman was killed Monday shortly before 3:30 a.m. when his car slammed into a bridge abutment near the Ocean Avenue off-ramp on the Junipero Serra Freeway.

Patrolman Warren Joseph St. Thomas, 21, of 533 Clarinada street, Daly City, was on his way home at the time of the accident.

The car flew 20 feet through the air and flipped over, pinning the young patrolman inside. It took a fire department rescue squad some 45 minutes to cut the victim out of the wreckage.

He was apparently killed instantly in the crash, investigators said.

St. Thomas joined the department last March.

He is survived by his wife, Patricia.

Change in Grand Ave. Parking Due

Grand Avenue in downtown South San Francisco will soon sport a new parking arrangement.

Councilmen on Monday gave approval of a recommended parallel parking proposal to be carried out for an experimental 18 day period.

City Manager Gale Dreisbach said that he has been reviewing the condition of the central business district for the 11 months he's been here.

"The condition isn't going to get better," he said, then proceeded to read from a letter prepared by new Chamber of Commerce President John Penna.

The letter requested installation of the temporary parallel parking "in an attempt to better the flow of traffic and to study traffic conditions."

Dreisbach explained to the council that "there just isn't any room to back out without crossing the double line. We've got to make it a little more convenient."

According to Dreisbach the realignment will mean a loss of approximately 45 parking stalls. He said this would be offset by the fact the city is opening a new public parking lot at the corner of Miller and Maple (a block away) that will account for an additional 30 stalls.

"We intend to enforce the parking laws," promised Dreisbach. "The staff with the help of the chamber can run a successful experiment. I don't see how anyone downtown would be so narrow minded as not to go along with this experiment," he said.

Trustee Schumacher Quits JESD Post

William Schumacher, Chairman of the board of trustees of Jefferson Elementary School District, has announced his resignation from that body, effective immediately.

Schumacher was elected to the district five years ago. He became Chairman of the board last year.

A new state ruling decrees that school board trustees cannot be appointed. Replacements for a vacancy must be elected.

The JESD is expected to coordinate a special election to fill Schumacher's post with the Daly City municipal elections in April.

In order to qualify for such a coordinated election, the deadline for Schumacher's resignation would be Friday, Jan.

28—74 days before the municipal elections.

The law also prohibits consolidation of such school-city elections.

Schumacher also has announced he is a candidate for the Daly City city council. Earlier this week he took out nomination papers.

He said on Tuesday that time was against him in "trying to keep up with my duties as school trustee, candidate for the election and my private business."

He is an attorney in Daly City.

Schumacher gave as his reasons for the unexpected move his intention to seek election to the Daly City City Council and increased personal commitments.

"Although during my tenure there have been some very difficult times in employee relations, I have thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to serve the community by working with the Board during these past three years," Schumacher stated in a letter to Dr. Russell Kent, County Superintendent of Schools.

The letter, dated January 17, noted that the resignation would allow the school district to hold concurrent elections with the city on April 11.

"Many positive steps have been taken to improve our educational programs," Schumacher said on announcing his resignation.

"One of the most important is that while operating within a limited budget, we increased the number of reading specialists and reduced class size and administrative costs — putting our tax dollars where they count the most.

William Schumacher

"I also believe that the Board has become more aware of, and involved in, community concerns. We have expanded our bilingual program and drug and health education," Schumacher said.

He was appointed to the Board in 1969 and elected in the district elections last year.

SSF Bottle Ban 'Birthday' Youth Sing, 'Bake' Can Cake

By BOB PETERSON

At least 65 South San Francisco High School students feel that city's bottle and can ordinance should not be forgotten.

They proved this fact by commemorating the first anniversary of its birth last night at the city council meeting with songs.

Their enthusiasm momentarily set Mayor William Borba into a dither as he attempted to declare a recess and clear the council chambers.

The Monday meeting was being video taped for later replay next week on the city's cable television system.

After calling the meeting to order and approving the minutes, Borba requested the youths make their presentation so the council could proceed with the regular agenda items.

A spokesman for the group said they were not prepared at that time to make their presentation because some of their party was not in attendance.

"Clear the audience," commanded Borba. "We have people on the agenda to be heard. Will the sergeant at arms take action?"

There was a brief period of mass confusion and discussion as to whether Borba could have the chambers cleared.

City Attorney John Noonan said the government code does provide for that removal if in fact the meeting is being interrupted.

There was, however no disorder, and probably would not have been any confusion had not the mayor proclaimed his desire to clear the chambers.

Noonan then explained that the mayor was merely requesting the youths make room for those in the hallway who have business on the agenda.

A brief report from the hallway was heard. "Mr. Mayor, there are two people out here (with agenda business)." A young girl got up and volunteered to give up her seat along with her friend.

The meeting then progressed through regular items. The last matter before the council was the presentation by the students.

At that time a group of approximately a dozen youths paraded before the council bench, several carrying a large layer cake made from non-returnable cans. On top of it was a real cake, all highlighted with candles.

One youth strapped on a guitar and the singing began. It went, in part... "It was passed in January of yesteryear... Oh did you hesitate... Instead of deciding to let it go and let it grow its fate... Postponed in May to find a way... 90 days to investigate... To our disgust it died August... But our spirit never fades..."

Councilman Frank Mammini who supported the ordinance, said, "If you want to play it over again and give me a copy of the words I'll join you."

They did, and he did.

Millbrae School Lunch Prices to Be Hiked

The Millbrae School District plans to increase school lunch prices on February 1.

The boost in children's lunches would be from 40 to 50 cents, with proportionate increases for the adults' meals and in the cost of items from the snack bar at Taylor School.

"It is with the greatest reluctance that we take this step," said Millbrae School Dist. Board of Education Pres. Remo Boragno, referring to the 25 percent increase.

It was pointed out that the board had to be firm in restricting the use of instructional or educational funds to subsidize food costs.

Meeting on Monday night in the district conference center at Chadbourne School annex, the board first held a study session on the Sabbatical leave policy, which will receive additional consideration.

Harold Fritz, principal of Glen Oaks School, is to be coordinator of the Summer School program, which will be held from June 26-July 28. Leo Tarantino, teacher at Spring Valley School, will be summer school principal at both schools this year, which will be Taylor Intermediate and Highlands. A committee is currently working on plans for the curriculum.

Supt. Edward J. Muehlhausen is chairman of the county committee to study the recently introduced Stull Bill, which makes periodic evaluation of all certificated personnel mandatory. This includes both probationary and tenured teachers, principals and superintendents.

The Millbrae district plans to develop an advisory committee composed of eight teachers, one principal, Dr. Muehlhausen and Dr. Rufus Clapp, to facilitate recommendations for implementation of the bill. Dr. Muehlhausen (Please See Page 2, Column 8)

ABAG Plans Task Force

All San Mateo citizens and community organizations are invited to participate in a meeting to be convened by the Mid-Peninsula Urban Coalition, the Human Relations Task Force, and the Daly City Advisory Housing Committee.

The purpose of the meeting is to learn about the citizen participation program of the Association of Bay Area Governments. Names of delegates will be selected and submitted to ABAG's executive committee who will name three delegates from each of the nine Bay Area Counties to ABAG's Citizens' Task Force. The task force will design a permanent regional citizens' forum to provide ABAG with citizen input on regional problems, issues and concerns. Meeting will be Friday, January 21, 7:30 p.m., San Mateo City Hall, Council Chambers, 330 West Twentieth.

S.S.F. Personnel Rules Debated

What is being proposed in South San Francisco concerning that city's personnel rules and regulations could have significant repercussions.

The personnel board, councilmen and department heads are scheduled to discuss the matter in an open 7:30 p.m. session Monday at the Emergency Operating Center of the West Orange Memorial Library. There will be no official action.

The suggested amendment to the personnel rules and regulations pertain to the certification of eligible applicants for appointment to city jobs.

If adopted the new amendment would require that the top man on the list of eligibles be automatically hired.

Presently, there is an option, referred to as a "rule of three" in which the appointing power, which is the city council in the case of department heads and the city manager for other employees, can select from among the top three candidates.

Candidates for positions are ranked on a list by combining the results of a written test and an oral interview by the personnel board. Additional points are given for seniority and being a veteran. Scores are based 40 per cent on the written test and 60 per cent on the interview.

The written exam tests intelligence and to some extent technical knowledge. The oral interview supposedly brings out an individual's general attitude and personality.

Opposition to the proposal is strong from the city's department heads. A survey taken early last year by then acting city manager Larry Ross got a response from eleven department heads. Ten were against the proposed amendment.

It was way back in 1970 when the personnel board first began to meet in constant study sessions for the purpose of reviewing and suggesting possible changes.

The proposed amendment was drafted in the first months of 1971. It appeared on the first city council agenda last year but no action was ever taken on it.

Particular concern was expressed by most of the city's department heads that the proposed amendment would strip the choice of appointment recommendations from the department head and city managers, who are the ones that have to work with the individual.

Their point has been that important factors concerning an eligible employee can be learned in follow up investigation of the employment list that possibly won't be brought out in an interview.

The top candidate may have factors in his background that would make him unacceptable in a specific job. It may even be true of the first three persons on the list, contend the department heads. They felt, therefore, that the appointing authority should have the discretion to pass over individuals on the list.

In effect the end result if the amendment is adopted would be that the council would become the appointing power for all employees.

Radar for Use On S.F. Bay Tested

Sea-going radar sets similar to air traffic control displays used for years on commercial airlines, are being adapted and tested for use on San Francisco Bay.

U.S. Coast Guardsmen are planning a "marine traffic system" for the Bay, to determine whether it could be used to prevent collisions between ships, during bad weather.

At present, there is no plan to make the radar system mandatory, and advice from the radar screens would be provided as voluntary advice only.

Commanders Gerald J. Budridge and Raymond Baetsen of the Coast Guard's Twelfth District headquarters research and development office, are in charge of the local plan.

Planning is for two shore-based precision surveillance radar sets, installed on the seaward side of Yerba Buena Island, with a monitoring station and other electronics.

An operator will be able to advise ships, without request, of other ships in the channel, their destination, last reported position, and other information.

Use of voice to provide information is planned, but the radar operator will not be authorized to direct a ship captain, or a ship's pilot, to take any action. Choice of action remains the authority of the ship's master, said the Coast Guard.

Victim of Gunshot Dies

A 22-year-old South San Francisco man shot more than two months ago with a high powered carbine during an argument died of his wounds in the intensive care unit of Peninsula Hospital Monday afternoon.

Coroner's officials reported Kenneth Wyrch of 505 Baden Avenue, Apt. 1, underwent surgery numerous times in attempts to save his life after he suffered wounds in the left chest and left arm.

The man who allegedly shot Wyrch, Jorge Flores of 619 Miller Avenue, South San Francisco, had an attempted murder charge against him dismissed, and South San Francisco Detective Jack Rhodes said as far as he is concerned the case is closed. He said he would review the case, however, with the district attorney's office.

According to South San Francisco police reports, Wyrch went to Flores' home on the afternoon of November 13 to see his girl friend, Nancy Vargas.

Miss Vargas reportedly told Wyrch others in the house did not want him inside, but Wyrch tried to kick the door in. When others restrained him, officers said Wyrch left, but said he would return with a weapon.

New Bruno Shop Center Wins OK

Plans were approved by the San Bruno Planning Commission Monday for a new small shopping center in Crestmoor, a small apartment house in Rollingwood, and a larger apartment house in Lomita Park.

The shopping center will be composed of two stores, each about 2,000 square feet — a 7-11 Market and possibly a liquor store. The 18,000-square foot site is one created at the foot of the Crestmoor Drive hill when San Bruno Avenue was shifted southward for its underpass.

Developer Bob Berryman described how the center will conform to Crestmoor's architecture, with pitched shake roof and a slumpstone, adobe-color sides. The lot is located adjacent to single family homes on Crestmoor Drive, although there is a steep hill separating the center from the nearest house.

The lot was already zoned C.N., neighborhood-commercial.

The Rollingwood project, to be developed by builder Dave Mojias of Millbrae, and Dr. Nate Chalmers, will be a fourplex located on Crestmoor Drive, backing onto Junipero Serra Freeway. It too will be adjacent to a single family home, now used as a Division of Highways project headquarters, although separated by a PG&E right of way.

The apartment house will be apparently on the site once approved for a nursing home, and previously a medical center. One vacant lot will remain. Here too, the project apparently conforms to the zoning.

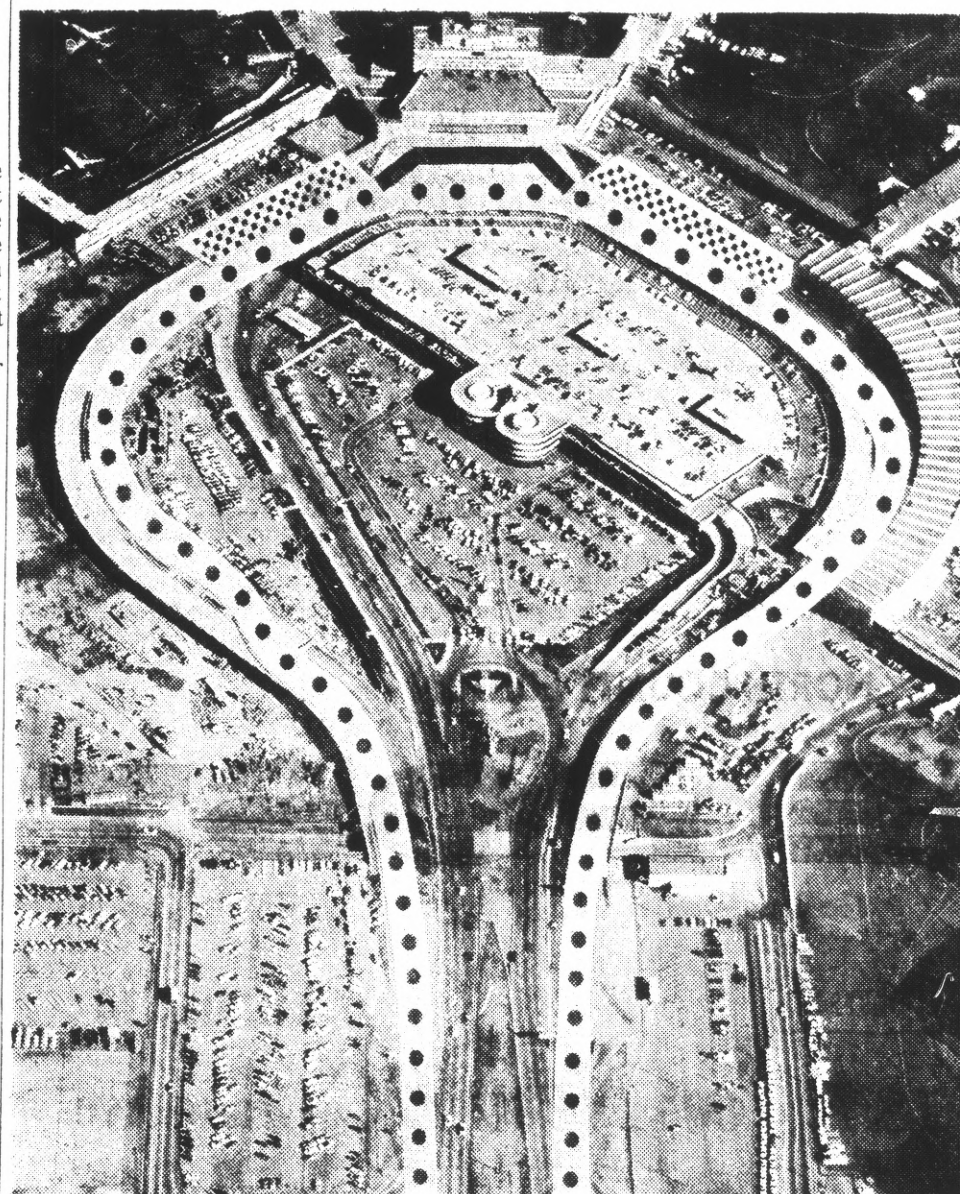

The Lomita Park project is being developed by local investor Joseph Welch, and will have 10 two-bedroom apartments. It will be a design new in the middle but present a solid wall along the street. It will be located on Santa Maria Avenue, apparently behind some commercial property Welch is developing along El Camino Real.

Councilmen meanwhile approved two use permits and an architectural plan covering the commercial property Welch is developing along El Camino Real.

Councilmen meanwhile approved two use permits and an architectural plan covering the commercial frontage on El Camino. This action had been held over from last meeting when planning commissioners decided that the parking layout as presented for four separate but adjacent sites was simply inadequate.

Welch was required to work out a plan with City Mgr. Gerald Minford, which is what he presented last night. The new plan eliminated spaces which blocked other car spaces and where the turning radius was inadequate. Final action last night was to require Welch — over his protests — to resubdivide the lots into one lot so that the parking plan would apply to all the buildings.

As part of approval of the Welch development, a use permit was approved for Frank Thichy, 1560 El Camino Real, for rebuilding and exchange of

NEW SECTIONS OF the upper terminal roadways at San Francisco International Airport were opened to traffic on Monday morning. Dotted line shows traffic routes with access to the Central Terminal Building depicted in solid black. A more direct access to the Central Terminal will provide a smoother traffic flow. The new route also provides an "express" lane from the South Terminal to the main exit roadway to Bayshore Freeway. Checkered areas are construction zones in which the existing road link between the terminal buildings and the down ramp from the Central Terminal are to be demolished to permit final stages of the $10 million terminal roadways project to be constructed.

Political Fights Seen For Cities

If first day results are any indicator, at least two North County cities — South San Francisco and Pacifica — will be involved in hard-fought battles for elective seats in the April municipal elections.

In South San Francisco, for example, a challenge has been made of a previously unopposed elective position: that of city treasurer.

Taking out papers, and tiling them the same day, was contender Hal Schuette, a bank executive, Schuette, of 31 Escanero Drive, is challenging incumbent City Treasurer John Bonalanza, who also took out papers Thursday but has not yet filed them.

Bonalanza has been under fire recently by another resident, Don Gamma, who has questioned Bonalanza's methods in investing city money to profit the city.

City Clerk Arthur Rodondi also took out nomination papers Thursday to succeed himself in that post. He filed them this morning, and is not expected to be challenged in that position.

The only councilman to take out papers the first day was Frank Bertucelli. Also up for re-election are Councilmen Frank Mammini and Warren Steinkamp. Both are expected to run for re-election, and a large field of challengers also is expected.

Meanwhile in Pacifica, two of that city's council's severest critics have taken out nomination papers. They are Virginia Jaeger and Raymond Karczewski.

Both candidates attend coun-

Volkswagen engines. This will go into a corner building formerly leased by a car tape cartridge store. A use permit was approved for B. Gianoli, 1550 El Camino Real, for sales and assembly of high speed engines for boats and autos. Gianoli will be moving his machine shop from Montgomery Avenue to a new building which Welch will be erecting for him, next to the former tape cartridge store.

In the vandalism report presented to the board, it was stated that costs for the fiscal year, to date, are $3,293.93, which includes glass breakage, thefts, and the slashing of tires on school buses.

After acceptance of the resignation of board member Donald M. George with regret, the board issued a resolution of appreciation for his public service. Theodore N. Dimitre will now be clerk of the board, and an April 11 election will be held for a new board member.

Mrs. Nanci Burger has been employed by the district as a substitute teacher, and Thomas W. Kurtas as a substitute custodian.

The board will hold its February 7 meeting at Lomita Park School.

Youth Meet In Pacifica

Pacifica council members have set 7:30 p.m., January 26 at Oceana High School for a joint meeting with the city's Youth Advisory Commission.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans and objectives of the commission during the remaining term of office of the current members.

Youth commissioners also will receive direction and enlightenment from the council members as to what the council desires of the commission in terms of accomplishments for the coming year.

contractors were apparently not too interested in pool building. Tatarian offered, along with other explanations on why such items as concrete construction came in at $405,000 after it was estimated to cost $244,000.

Lycett informed Tatarian that his firm had been commissioned — at a cost of some $58,000 — to design a pool facility "and yet you take no responsibility for building or for bidding?"

"The bid makes a person want to jump out of his pants," Lycett said.

Giamonna pressed Tatarian to explain why the architect had not gone back over the plans to insure they were "more in line" with the budget.

Councilman Louis J. Papan said the entire discussion was time-consuming and "all we're doing is dealing in semantics." "I could buy all you are saying if we were in the ball game," Papan told Tatarian. "But we're not even in the ball game."

Absent from the meeting, City Manager David Rowe informed the council via message that he recommended complete redesign of the facility.

It was also noted that such redesign would cost another $48,000 in architectural fees.

Tatarian said he had offered to cut his price by 33 per cent if the school district and city council decided to go ahead with redesign.

Dep. City Atty. This proposal would permit the city to step in and care for the plants, if the owner is not, and then make the cost of the work a lien on the property.

As part of approval of the Welch development, a use permit was approved for Frank Thichy, 1560 El Camino Real, for rebuilding and exchange of

E.O.C. Meeting Erupts Into a Shouting Match

Coast Girls Found by D.C. Police

Two Pacifica sisters, ages 10 and 11, were reunited with their parents Saturday night after they were located by Daly City police at the Serramonte Shopping Center.

Nadine and Francine Montoya of 211 Avalon Drive, Pacifica, had been missing since Friday afternoon when they disappeared from a friend's car at the Skyline Shopping Center — about three miles from where they were found.

Police spotted the children shortly before the shopping center closed at 9 p.m.

A few questions quickly established the sisters' identity, police said.

The girls said they had spent Friday night in an abandoned car near the center.

FIRST CANDIDATE — Former Municipal Judge Paul Hupf was the first candidate to take nominations papers for the upcoming April Daly City Council election from City Clerk Mrs. Anna Olhendorf. Hupf's wife, Virginia, and campaign chairman Al Teglia look on. The first day the papers could be taken out was Thursday. (Post Photo)

Youth Registration Drive in Pacifica

Council members at their regular meeting last week approved of a proposal by the city's Youth Advisory Commission to get out the young vote for the April municipal election. This proposal calls for the County Clerk to furnish 2500 fliers with names and phone numbers of voter registrars to be distributed to the Pacifica high schools and Skyline College. There are 93 listed registrars in Pacifica.

The council also set the municipal election for April 11. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Two seats will be up for grabs, one presently held by Mayor Grace McCarthy and the other by Councilman Dan Modena.

Mrs. McCarthy has said she will definitely be seeking her chair back, while Modena has not yet committed himself.

As this day progresses many political pundits in the county's General Law cities will be waiting to see who takes out nomination papers for the various elective posts.

The City of Pacifica is no different, with the possible exception of youthful participation.

In that North County city an all out effort is being made to register as many of the newly enfranchised as possible.

Grealish New Harbor President

James V. Grealish of Daly City has been elected president of the San Mateo County Harbor District Board of Commissioners for the year 1972.

An investment counselor with capital funding corporation in San Francisco, Grealish, a native of San Francisco, has been a resident of San Mateo County for over eighteen years. He has served as vice-president of the board during the past year.

Grealish, a captain in the United States Naval Reserve, presently serves as San Francisco area coordinator for the Naval Academy information program and as a member of the Chief of Naval Operations sea power presentation team.

Among his other affiliations, are: National vice president of the Navy League of the United States, vice president of the San Mateo County Republican Central Committee, and vice president of the San Mateo Chapter of the Republican Alliance.

He is a licensed public accountant, a registered representative of the National Association of Security Dealers, and holds a life and disability insurance license from the State of California.

When asked about his approach to the responsibilities of his new office, Grealish stated: "To me the approval of the voters of San Mateo County, of the San Mateo County Harbor District was a mandate to develop a complete Marina complex at Pillar Point as the first step in a county-wide program to fill a portion of the recreational needs of its citizens."

"The definite shortage of berthing and launching ramp facilities in San Mateo County was well documented in the feasibility study completed by Koebig & Koebig in 1969. Planning to fill this shortage has proceeded efficiently and economically with concern for both the recreational needs and the environment."

"Cooperation with both citizens and other governmental agencies has been evidenced at all levels."

By VERN KROGH

Two leaders in the South San Francisco Mexican-American community almost came to blows at the Friday meeting of the county's Economic Opportunity Commission in Redwood City.

They accused each other of being "damned liars" during a heated discussion on operations of the city's Information Center for the poor.

The conflict was touched off when Antonio Montoya, a former member of the commission, accused Rubin Avilar, chairman of the board of directors of the South San Francisco INFO center, of not even knowing how much money had been collected, of holding "secret meetings" and of supervising an operation in which "the youth of South San Francisco have absolutely nothing to do."

Montoya said he made a "grave mistake" last year when he "pointed the finger" at the staff of the center for failing to run a successful program.

"Ask him how many secret meetings he has held," Montoya demanded. "Find out how many youths are involved. Before you allocate any money to this center, examine it."

"You're a damned liar," Avilar retorted. "I welcome this commission to the center. I challenge Mr. Montoya, and I call him a bare face liar to his face. If he were a true Chicano, he would come up here and slap me on the face."

Luis Morrill, acting director of the center, charged that for years Montoya had been "clamoring" for dismissal of the center director.

"All of a sudden—in one week—he does a complete, 180-degree turn around," Morrill charged. "He says he represents a Spanish speaking organization, but he represents a non-existing organization."

Avilar, Morrill, Montoya and a woman member of the audience then flew into a shouting match in Spanish at each other.

Preceding the dispute was a request of Avilar that $336 in surplus funds be allocated to hire two community workers to initiate "an extensive campaign" to:

Find jobs for the poor.

Acquaint the poor with health services and to canvass doctors if the free Guadalupe Clinic is closed because of lack of funds.

Provide education to those who speak only Spanish.

To assist the present staff in translation and interpretation services, and.

To recruit volunteers to better help the target area poor.

At the end of the program, Avilar said, the South San Francisco program will have $4150 in excess funds.

Edward R. Becks, executive director of the commission, however, said the funds are needed to "re-program" for next year.

Coast Guardsman Must Face New Trial

By BOB PETERSON

Clinton Garber sat down in the booth, sporting an ear-to-ear grin. But his smile faded when he was told he had to make another court appearance.

Garber is the 20-year-old Coast Guardsman arrested by San Bruno police on November 29 on charges of possession of marijuana.

That arrest, which resulted from a house fire at 790 Elm Street, produced much rhetoric about whether or not he made a heroic rescue of a 4½-year-old girl.

A story to that effect appeared in a San Francisco paper, and San Bruno fire officials the next day vociferously denied it.

The charge of possession of marijuana was subsequently dropped at the preliminary hearing level. Garber has now been recited for the same offense.

This fact was presented to Garber Monday, as he sat having coffee with his legal counsel, San Bruno Attorney Ted Long.

Garber had just returned from a 20-day leave over the Christmas Holidays to his native Tennessee. He was obviously happy. Not only because of the recent vacation, but because he had received orders of a special assignment he had been seeking.

"I don't believe this new charge. I thought it was over," he said, previously elated over the fact he has been assigned to Alaska for a year's duty, allowing him also to get out of the service about three months early.

"It's a shock," said Garber, and the expression on his face confirmed that fact.

Long also was quite upset that the new complaint was filed. He said he had received a call from the district attorney's office Friday, and planned to take Garber in for arraignment this morning.

"I'm not sure whose feelings were hurt. But it's obvious someone's was (because Garber's case was dismissed)," said Long.

"There is nothing to be accomplished by rebooking him other than inconvenience and harassment. They had three district attorney's on the preliminary and couldn't get enough to hold him the first time," said Long.

The case was dismissed on a technicality in that Garber reportedly was not properly advised of his rights. Long indicated that was only the beginning of a long list of defense angles, he said. Long said he thinks the prosecution will be seeking a different judge to hear the case.

"He's done nothing more or less since the last time he was in court," said Long. "There's a lot better things the district attorney's office could be doing with that court time."

Long said he did appreciate the courtesy the district attorney extended in allowing Garber to surrender to his attorney instead of being picked up on a warrant.

Coast Impact Plan Studied

Planned developments in Pacifica in the future may have to justify their existence based on what long-term effect they will have on the city.

The suggestion for such an amendment to the city's planned development zoning ordinance was made by Councilman Stan Farber. The city staff was instructed to look into it.

Farber said he wanted an amendment that would require an applicant for a use permit under the planned development zoning to file an "economic impact" statement.

Such a statement would outline just what effect a development would have on the city's budget, tax rate, schools, sewer system and other services.

Youth Voter Registration Set In California

A massive, non-partisan drive to register some 330,000 eligible high school students to vote has been announced by the California Teachers Association.

In making the announcement, John E. Stephens Jr., CTA consultant for student programs and newly named coordinator of "CTA Vote '72," said the CTA State Board of Directors had given the project a high priority.

"CTA Vote '72" is focusing its activities on the week of March 6-10.

Plans call for the CTA State Council of Education—CTA's policy-making body—and the California Legislature, in a joint resolution, to declare that week, "Voter Registration Week in the Public Schools."

"It is our hope," Stephens continued, "that other educationally related groups will join us in this action and declare March 6-10 as 'Voter Registration Week.'"

Negative Views Are Countered

By BOB PETERSON

Apathy and a negative attitude Pacificans hold about their community was a main topic for discussion at the Chamber of Commerce's first membership meeting of the year.

About 20 members attended the noon session Thursday at the Muffin Mine Restaurant. It was billed as a meeting where chamber members could give their views on what they think is wrong with Pacifica and how to improve the situation.

Chamber Manager Tom Sawyer had members lunching in groups at separate tables where they were to come up with a problem, and a solution.

Members at four of five tables voiced concern on how to improve the city's tax base. Also discussed were ways to encourage new business into the community, and how to promote the chamber itself.

One woman member, Lee Szeles of Pacifica Hostess Service, said she wants to have the business women of Pacifica become more involved in the chamber.

"We don't have one woman involved (on board of directors) because this is a man-oriented thing. And I'm not a woman's libber," said Mrs. Szeles. "There has to be a woman on the board of directors. We have at least a quarter of the businesses run by women," she said.

As to the apathy and negative attitude, it was pointed out that the chamber was not taking full advantage of the city's "plus" factors.

One suggestion was to promote the positive aspects of the weather, for example, by pointing out that it is not always foggy and raining and that Pacifica is a smog-free community.

Little things, like having businesses promote Pacifica as the Portola Discovery Site with the sale of postcards, also was suggested as a means of implementing a positive flavor.

The brainstorming session wasn't too successful in finding an answer to the tax situation. Suggested solutions included everything from a local lottery to improving Pacifica's commercial recreation potential.

Sawyer said the chamber will move in the positive direction that had been suggested and said, "Our door swings in. Just hit it. We need your thoughts and direction because without it we can't do what you expect us to do."

San Bruno Chamber Seats Staff

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce's Annual Dinner and Installation of 1972 officers was held at the Hilton Inn in the Gold Room.

Guest speaker and installing officer was the new city manager of San Bruno, Gerald Minford. Minford came to San Bruno in December, 1971, after serving the past four years as city manager in Delano.

Bill Wilson, owner of Melody Toyota, was installed as the new President along with Larry Mobley, New York Life Insurance agent, vice president; and Harvey Brenner, vice president and Manager of Eureka Federal Savings & Loan, treasurer for a second term. Being installed as Directors: John Clinton, Harry Costa, Jim Faverman, Sam Hackett, Bob Hintz, Earl Lopes, Joshua Maule III, Lance Miller, Larry Mobley and Paul Vogel.

In addition to the installation, Mrs. Lois Brockway was presented the first Life Member Award in the San Bruno Chamber for her many years of welcoming new residents and service to the Chamber and City of San Bruno.

Also honored were the retiring chamber directors, Artur Basmajian, John Berglund, Joseph Galligan, Florin Rhoads and Robert Wilson.

Danger Lurks at D.C. Intersection

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Fear that a child might be injured has sparked the Daly City City Council to push for completion of road improvements at the corner of Hillside Boulevard and East Market Street.

The subject of strong criticism from some council members is a mammoth hole directly in the center of the intersection and adjacent to the Colma K-6 school.

Hundreds of small children pass the site every day en route to school.

Vehicles traveling in an easterly direction must detour through a service station, while those going in other directions must inch around narrowed road lanes.

A crossing guard is assigned to assist children that cross the street walking to the school.

Councilman Louis J. Papan said construction in the area has been "unreasonably long."

City Manager David Rowe agreed that the pipeline being built along the street by the Piombo Construction Company "is definitely not well planned" and has been under way for several months.

Rowe said he had been "pushing the county" for quick completion of the work, however no positive results have been seen to date.

"We have expressed our dissatisfaction pretty much on a regular basis (to the county)," Rowe said.

Papan noted that similar construction at the corner of Second and East Market Streets — also in the county — was guarded by a fence when workmen were absent. However there were times when the Market-Hillside project is left "open."

Noting that the city had little power over county projects, Papan predicted "if a child falls into that hole and gets hurt it will reflect on the city."

Papan instructed the city manager to inform the construction company to "cover the hole at night regardless" or "I might pay them a visit."

Fellow councilman Anthony Giammona recommended a letter be written to San Mateo County supervisors advising them of the situation and asking them to expedite completion of the project.

Trustee Ousted

South San Francisco Unified School District Trustee Dr. Bill Starmer has been relieved of his school board duties by County Superintendent of Schools J. Russell Kent.

Starmer, serving in his second year of his second term in office, was ousted as a trustee because he has not attended a meeting since September 22, 1971.

At that time Starmer said he would not attend another meeting until the board agreed to a policy which would allow him to ask as many questions on any subject and for as long a period of time as he wanted to use for that purpose.

The school board operates under Roberts Rules of Orders. Kent's action followed an inquiry by the other trustees on what to do in such a case. A letter was sent to Superintendent Paul Neilsen dated January 5, 1972.

Kent cited a section of the state education code which says "One of the causes for vacancy of office is . . . ceasing to discharge the duties of his office for three consecutive months, except when prevented by sickness, or when absent from the state with the permission required by law."

It was suggested by Kent that a vacancy be declared and an election be set to fill that vacancy.

A motion was made by Trustee Leo Padreddi and seconded by Mrs. Lorraine Cooper to hold it in conjunction with the city's municipal election in April.

Starmer was not immediately available for comment.

Dr. Bill Starmer

Recycled Paper Asked

Daly City councilman Louis J. Papan last week suggested the city start using recycled paper in an effort to save the environment.

He said it required 17 trees to make one ton of paper.

And while the difference in cost was not great it was time some concern for protecting the trees, and the "quality of our lives," was emphasized.

Papan recently sent out a year-end newsletter to constituents at his own expense printed on recycled paper.

Shrine Set

Skyline College's library will be the site for the permanent exhibit of The Freedom Shrine.

The official dedication ceremonies and placement of these 28 authentic reproductions of historically famous American documents will take place on the campus at the library reading room, Sunday, Jan. 23, 1:30 p.m., President Philip C. Garlington announced.

The public is invited to attend this event free of charge.

Justice Robert F. Kane, 1st District Court of Appeals, State of California, will deliver the dedicatory address.

The presentation of the documents in behalf of the Exchange Club of Burlingame will be made by Lee Warren, State President of the Exchange Clubs, and the U.S. Marine Corps will furnish the color guard.

Invited guests to the dedication will include the members of the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees and administration and college leaders: the mayors, police chiefs, fire chiefs, and presidents of the Chambers of Commerce from the North San Mateo County communities of San Bruno, Daly City, Millbrae, Burlingame, South San Francisco, Pacifica, Colma, Brisbane; publishers and editors from the San Mateo County newspapers; and Steve Marsh, SC Associated Students president, Fall 1971; and Roberto Albanese, SC Associated Students president-elect, Spring 1972.

The Freedom Shrine Gifts have been part of the National Exchange Club's education program since 1949. It was inspired by the Freedom Train which toured the nation in 1947 with an exhibit of historic American documents. Since the first Freedom Shrine presentation at Santa Monica High School in 1950, more than 3000 presentations have been made throughout the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Engineers

Fund Crisis at Daly City Center

Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Center on Mission Street in Daly City has managed to exist for six months on very little money and a lot of love, the County Board of Supervisors was told January 11.

The love is still there, Shelley Fernandez said, but the money will be completely gone by the end of this month.

Miss Fernandez, chairman of the health center's board of directors, and a delegation of volunteer workers and supporters persuaded the supervisors to put up enough money to keep the clinic going at least through February.

In the meantime, Dr. George Pickett, county health and welfare director, was instructed to meet with the center directors and officials of Mary's Help Hospital, the County Medical Society and the Comprehensive Health Planning Council to work out a proposed contract under which the center could be reimbursed for the services it renders.

Supervisor Robert St. Clair said the same type of services should be provided in the North County as are available at the Charles Drew Neighborhood Health Center in East Palo Alto, to which the county pays up to $240,000 a year for care of county patients.

Miss Fernandez said the Guadalupe clinic, which had only $9,000 for operating expenses and $15,000 for physician fees but which has managed to keep going mostly on volunteer help, has been meeting the needs of the poor in the Daly City area.

"The people feel now they are not forgotten," she told the board. "We have beautiful people there. It is a clinic of love."

Miss Fernandez said the center, thanks to a $16,000 special grant, has retained a health planner to help the clinic obtain federal funds or foundation grants for operating costs. She urged the supervisors to keep the center from going under until the money is received.

On Dr. Pickett's advice, the board agreed to continue paying for the time of two physicians at the rate of $50 a three-hour clinic session at least through February. The health official suggested that the directors confer with the doctors about the possibility of using some of that money to pay operating expenses, if necessary, for the time being.

Among others who spoke was Ralph Jacobson, a Daly City lawyer and member of the board of directors. He said the clinic has registered 2,000 patients in the six months of its existence, and added:

"It would be a tragedy for the entire county if it were to fail now."

Among supporters who spoke to the board were Dr. Leo Bell, president of the County Medical Society, and Ron Marshall, executive secretary of the Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

Pacifica Is Opposed To County's Plans

As far as Pacifica officials are concerned the county's low cost "Initial Housing Element" should restrict itself to unincorporated areas, leaving cities responsible for their own housing plans.

This is the message council members instructed City Manager Jim Swayne to pass along to the county's Regional Planning Commission.

The city's planning commissioners had recommended that the council support the county's broadly based housing goals.

Director of Community Development Les Clark had indicated that with further refinement much of the county's plan could be included in Pacifica's housing element.

Several council members had their own points of view on the situation.

"I wish the county would get off our back on all of these things," said Councilman Stan Farber. "The powers that be (the county) seem to always come up with some kind of plan and we either accept it or else."

"I no more believe Atherton or Hillsborough will have low income housing than I believe San Francisco will clean up its sewer problem" (because it's pressured by the Regional Water Quality Control Board), said Farber.

Councilman Nick Gust said he thinks Pacifica should have its own plan.

"I'd just as soon tell them to forget it," said Councilman Harold Minshew. "Let's not put ourselves in the position to have Redwood City (the county) come and tell us who will go where, how to place different price ranges and the rest of it."

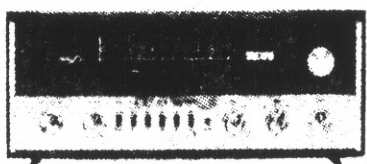

Clark suggested that if the city didn't adopt the county's plan it might have an effect on funding at the county level.

Negotiating Company Rejected by Jeff Board

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees has declined to renew the contract of a private labor relations firm used to negotiate with district employees.

In a split 3-2 vote the board first denied the request of Superintendent Frank Greenwood to renew the contract of Public Labor Relations, Inc.

The private labor relations firm had been used last year to meet and confer with employees of the school district in accordance with provisions of the Winton Act.

The contract between Labor Relations and the JESD expired on Dec. 31, 1971.

Greenwood recommended a new contract be drafted immediately in order for the locally based firm to begin preparing for upcoming meetings with employees.

But the majority of the board felt Greenwood and his staff would be better able to cope with such employee-district meetings and rejected the request.

Instead it was decided — in another split vote of the board — to have Greenwood meet and confer with employees and to call in the Public Labor Relations firm as consultants on an hourly rate of $40.

The annual contract with the firm called for a flat monthly consideration of $400, plus $40 per hour for "services rendered over and above that required in the meeting and conferring process."

The board agreed they would let Greenwood know when it was all right to call in the private firm.

Trustee Edward Tomasello voted against the motion.

He asked what the matter involved in the way of a financial burden to the district. And he wondered if Public Labor Relations might not be encouraged to prolong talks if they were retained under an hourly rate instead of an annual flat fee contract.

The situation in the district has not improved, trustee Dorothy Adams said after commending the PLR for their efforts on behalf of the district during last year's explosive teacher-district situation.

Agreeing with chairman William Schumacher and trustee Mrs. Beverly Forrester, Mrs. Adams said she believed Greenwood would be better able to talk on school district subjects during negotiations.

A member of the audience spoke out on a pending lawsuit involving the labor relations firm, asking chairman Schumacher why the district would be better off with a firm involved in a lawsuit stemming from last year's teacher-district issue.

Schumacher pooh-poohed the suit, indicating such suits were commonplace in today's world and not a subject to get unduly upset over.

In a similar action the board unanimously rejected a proposal that a public relations firm be contracted to publicize certain school programs.

Greenwood had informed the board that "due to the necessity of informing the general public as to the operation and effectiveness of the JESD in matters financial as well as instructional," he wanted to hire the firm of A. Baccari and Associates as a public information agent for the district.

The cost would be $300 per month for a maximum of six months.

He reminded the board that three years ago it was agreed to hire a public relations officer at an annual salary of $10,000-$12,000.

Since that time the matter had been dropped. Board chairman Schumacher asked why the local press could not handle such publicity?

Greenwood, while acknowledging that "the press has been good to us," said there were many subjects in the district he felt the public should be aware of, namely various reading programs.

"I'm loose on (the matter)," Greenwood told the board.

The superintendent informed trustee Forrester that the school district staff could not do the job because of the time element and the fact his offices were understaffed.

And the staff was not properly trained in such writing, trustee Tomasello offered.

Patricia A. Partillo, an observer, rapped the school administration for suggesting the public relations firm and said the money could be better spent on improving current school programs.

Small Town Girl Fell on Evil Ways

By VIRGIL WILSON

The story of a young Sunday school teacher and volunteer social worker who left a sheltered existence in a small Midwest town and fell on evil ways in San Francisco was told in court in Redwood City Thursday.

The subject, 23-year-old Georgia Anne Bohlen, said she was driven by love to commit a series of crimes that eventually resulted in a man's death.

Miss Bohlen, who pleaded guilty to a charge of voluntary manslaughter, escaped a prison sentence Wednesday when Judge Gerald E. Ragan, the jurist said he would have sentenced her to a 1-15-year prison term except for the recommendation of Probation Officer Carol K. Sullivan that Miss Bohlen be considered a candidate for probation.

Judge Ragan suspended criminal proceedings and ordered the defendant taken to the state prison for women for a period of psychiatric testing and evaluation not to exceed 90 days. Sentence will be imposed upon her return here.

Miss Bohlen admitted that she and another young woman, Wanda Studley, lured two men into a South San Francisco hotel room last June 24, drugged their drinks and robbed them of their valuables when they fell asleep. One of the men, Edgar N. Garrison, 47-year-old Redwood City salesman, was found dead in the room the next day and an autopsy revealed that the drug caused his death. Miss Studley, who pleaded guilty to second-degree murder, is serving a five-years to life term in state prison.

Miss Bohlen's attorney, Nicholas Deriman, called her case "the strangest I've ever seen" because of her background. He blamed her involvement on the fact "she fell in love with a man."

Citing her volunteer work and church and scouting activities, Deriman told Judge Ragan:

"She has done so much for society; I hope society can give her one last break."

"Except for behavior related to the instant offense," Mrs. Sullivan wrote in her report to the court, "her credentials are impeccable."

The probation officer noted that Miss Bohlen comes from a well-to-do family, is a college graduate, has outstanding job and character references "and has consistently devoted much of her time and interest to disadvantaged persons." She was awaiting a Peace Corps assignment at the time of her arrest.

Her friends, unaware of her involvement with an ex-convict named Leonard Adams, were stunned by the news of her arrest, Mrs. Sullivan noted. He is still being sought on suspicion of murder because, as the report states, "it was he who instructed the young women and provided them with the drugs."

In her own accounting of the case, Miss Bohlen relates in the report how she met Adams at a party and later fell in love with him. He told her he needed money and, after several refusals, finally persuaded her to rob men who were willing to cheat on their wives. She said he likened it to the activities of Robin Hood — stealing from the bad and giving to the good, namely, himself.

She turned everything she got over to Adams, she said, except for a coat he let her keep after she bought it with a credit card stolen from one of the victims.

arrangement to be worked out by City Attorney John Sherman, instead of taking the matter to court.

Virginia Jaeger called it "a payoff."

Terms of the agreement specified that the agreement "should not be construed as a waiver of the setback in the future."

Consensus of most at the council meeting was that the penalty for building a group of townhouses on a six-foot, instead of a required 10-foot, setback ought to be equal to the cost of relocating the apartments.

City officials several weeks ago decided on a compromise

Compromise Upsets Pacificans

It was felt that litigation might make matters worse, so the error was accepted as a mistake. Fault was not placed on the contractor, nor to the city inspectors who apparently either failed to notice the encroachment or saw it too late.

The settlement Sherman arrived at was for payment of $6,040 as "in lieu" park dedication fees and an additional $5,000 for contribution (because of a group of Pacificans are less than happy with a compromise decision that allows the consultant firm of Frahm, Elder and Associates and Challenge Homes Development, Inc., to pay $11,000 for a four-foot mistake.

aesthetic damage) to Frontier land Community Park. Resident Vickie Trujillo said, "They are paying $11,000 to be allowed to keep the buildings there. It seems unfair."

John Mackesy of Millbrae was elected 1972 chairman of the County Civil Service Commission January 4, succeeding Ray Colombo of San Bruno.

It is the third time around as chairman for Mackesy, who has served on the commission since January 12, 1960. The chairmanship is usually rotated among the five commission members.

She turned everything she got over to Adams, she said, except for a coat he let her keep after she bought it with a credit card stolen from one of the victims.

"She felt rewarded," Mrs. Sullivan commented, "by her compliance with the directives of the man she loved — and later feared."

Miss Bohlen said she tried to refuse several assignments from Adams but he threatened to leave her, expose her activities to her friends and employers, and on one occasion beat her badly.

"I am glad this nightmare has ended," she said, "but I am terribly sorry that someone had to die before that came about."

Jeff Trustees Mull Milk Price, Vandals

Everything from milk prices to vandals was discussed during a regular meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School District trustees Jan. 11. The meeting began with a secret session and was interrupted by a second closed door meeting midway through the agenda.

A request for minimum day classes for the 7th and 8th grade classes at Benjamin Franklin and Fernando Rivera schools was approved by the board on recommendation of staff, although it met with the general disapproval of parents attending the meeting.

Assistant superintendent Vince Stratton assured the board the minimum day was justifiable and would be used for holding general faculty meetings.

Concern voiced by some parents was based on the release of children from classes early.

Construction of portable classrooms at Fernando Rivera School has been delayed because of steel and teachers' strikes affecting the district; vandalism to construction during the teachers' strike; vandalism to various construction machinery; weather, and delay in delivery of an electrical switch gear, Stratton reported.

A staff recommendation that consideration be given to boosting the price of milk from five to six cents was tabled. It was felt such requests should not be made midway through a school year.

Good news was also in order. Assistant for business Roger Bartholi reported the snack bar reports from schools for November and December showed the service was making a small profit.

Also tabled was an administrative request for installation of a $180 fire and burglar alarm system in the Fernando Rivera portable classrooms.

Unanimously approved was the expenditure of $7,200 to paint 1,200 lockers measuring 15"x15"x24" at the Benjamin Franklin School.

Each locker will be painted with epoxy paint and guaranteed for two years.

Further discussion will be held on the policy of evaluating district superintendents, along with forms to be used, as proposed by trustee Beverly Forrester in earlier sessions.

JESD superintendent Frank Greenwood read a draft policy to the board and asked the matter be closely studied and discussed in light of the Stull Bill and Rodda Act of the 1971 California Legislative session.

Plastic Pipe Acceptable

Plastic pipe is acceptable in Pacifica.

Council members last week introduced an ordinance adopting the uniform plumbing code authorizing its use.

The approval was accomplished without much fanfare in the wake of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors recent change of heart in unanimously reversing their vote to allow plastic pipe in that city.

The council was told plastic pipe was one way to lower the cost of homes, it was better in an earthquake situation and was less subject to corrosion.

One opponent to the plastic pipe, Tom Hunter, a business agent for plumbers, suggested that Pacifica establish an ordinance that would require a home seller to let a buyer know what type of pipe was used in the building.

No action was taken on this suggestion.

Unbalanced Race Balance Study in D.C.

Daly City's elementary schools are integrated but none have achieved accepted racial balance as yet, the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees has been told.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood, in asking for approval of a district-wide survey to include school buildings, sites, organization and administration of the governing board, administration and staff, informed the board he was concerned primarily with completion of an ethnic balance and demographic study of the district.

On the matter of racial balance through integration of schools in the JESD, Greenwood said, "Some schools are complying (with the law); others are not."

A complete comprehensive report made by the University of Southern California would cost between $20,000-$25,000, according to Greenwood.

However, a limited study involving a demographic study and site utilization survey would cost about $7,000 — if volunteer census takers were used.

The abbreviated study could be accomplished by the State Department of Public Information utilizing current statistics in some fields.

Greenwood pointed out that if paid census takers were used to go door-to-door gathering information for the survey the cost would considerably exceed the $7,000 estimate.

The board balked at the total cost and decided to conduct the ethnic balance and demographic studies now and consider the over-all survey at a later date.

World War II: Letters From A Pretty Girl

By TOM POWELL

This is not a big story.

In fact, it's just one of millions that can be told about men and women who did what they had to in the Second World War. But it's a story about a girl who came to San Francisco in 1942 and spent most of her spare time writing letters to servicemen overseas.

She's Mary Barbera, now a resident of South San Francisco and the grandmother of two youngsters.

At the outbreak of the war, the then Mary Glahe went to work for the Selective Service in Seattle. One of her duties was to go down to the Seattle armory and wave goodbye to departing troops. The sight of a beautiful girl was to be the last glimpse of home for many young men during those desperate times.

In 1942, Mary moved to San Francisco where she worked for the Army Transportation Corps and later for the Navy Department.

"I was kind of a sweetheart for the men," she recalls. "I'd write to them and tell them to come home safely."

While she was working as a clerk in the Transportation Corps, many young men would come through their orders. Mary made a habit of taking down their names and destinations. And a few weeks later a lonely soldier or sailor in a foreign land would receive a very important letter from a girl back home.

Mary and other girls like her also spent their time collecting for the Red Cross and many of them regularly donated blood.

But Mary's principle project was writing letters — hundreds of them.

Following the war, servicemen coming back through San Francisco would call her or look her up. "God bless you for working so hard," many of them said.

The last time she saw any of them was in 1956 when she bumped into a colonel at the Presidio. "He remembered me right away," she said. "He told me how letters like mine meant so much to the men."

Mary is now working as an accounting clerk for a Peninsula contracting firm. Her husband, Robert, is a catering manager. Their daughter and grandchildren live in Memphis, Tennessee.

Other servicemen who remembered Mary after the war included a captain who came through Seattle and took her parents out to dinner. In another case, when her mother was in the hospital, a lieutenant colonel took her some roses.

A captain? A colonel? What about the enlisted men?

Mary smiled. "I married an enlisted man," she said.

INITIATED

USS ENTERPRISE — Navy Petty Officer Third Class Steven F. Davis, husband of the former Miss Vivian L. Lora of 208 MacDonald Avenue, Daly City, recently crossed the Equator en route to the Indian Ocean from Singapore aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Enterprise, and was confirmed a member of the mythical order of "Shellbacks" following traditional initiation rites.

Plan Due For Bruno Development?

A strong hint that a plan for development of the $10 million vacant Tanforan land will be presented to city hall within weeks, was made at last week's San Bruno City Council meeting by representatives of the owner, American Savings and Loan Co.

The hint was dropped by Paul Kelly, attorney for the billion-dollar firm which acquired the 43-acre site when the previous owner defaulted on a mortgage.

He spent about a half hour at last week's meeting battling unsuccessfully to prevent the council from voting to revert the zoning of the frontage of the property from C-C (commercial) to A-R, administrative-research. He insisted that the council's action would make it more difficult for American to market the property for development.

"With the present unemployment in the electronics field," he told the councilmen, "it is unlikely that there would be much call for A-R."

Councilmen explained to him that the C-C zoning had been given to the previous owner in connection with a definite development schedule, which had not been followed. Thus, the land was simply reverting to its previous zoning.

"Leave it as it is," Kelly pleaded. "Give them an opportunity to do what must be done. They will now move in that direction. . . . They are primarily a lending institution. . . . Now they realize they are a property owner, too, and realize what must be done with it. They will submit a plan for development now."

Councilmen Tony Governale and Margaret Kozkowski particularly grilled him.

"How much longer are you going to sit on the property which has been idle for ten years," Mrs. Kozkowski asked him.

Councilman George Corey pointed out that "an organization bigger than yours had taken out building permits for an office development, just a few thousand feet away from your property. . . . As far as I can see, this is a mere stalling tactic. . . . holding the land idle until the situation becomes ripe to make a good sale on it."

Fred Anderson, AS&L official, denied the charge.

"The cost of holding this land is fantastic. . . . We are more anxious than you to move it!" Anderson explained that they had been trying to sell all the property in one parcel to Tanforan.

Corey revealed that he had talked with someone in the shopping center organization, who had told him that with the kind of negotiations that AS&L carried on, the land could never be developed commercially.

Kelly revealed that the plan is now to divide the area up and develop the parcels separately.

Councilmen rejected his plea and voted to rezone the land to its previous A-R zoning. Mayor Hamilton, however, asked to be recorded with a "no" vote.

It was here that Kelly dropped his question. He asked if "in the interim (before the rezoning becomes final) we produce a plan of action" would the council refrain from introducing the ordinance for the rezoning.

Councilmen assured him that a plan was what they wanted the most. Councilman Neil Christal, who made the final motion, said that he wanted "the council to make it clear to the owners that we would entertain proper application for rezoning, if it would make it move faster."

2 Arrested In Pot Sale

South San Francisco police and undercover agents arrested two men Thursday on suspicion of sale of marijuana, and confiscated "several thousand dollars" in "street value" of the illegal product.

Police booked Vincent Durante, 24, if San Francisco, who listed himself as an unemployed minister, and Michael Danielson, 20, of 1380 Vista Grand, Millbrae, an unemployed service station attendant.

The arrest was made at 11 a.m. yesterday at a South San Francisco motel on El Camino Real, police said. The arrest resulted from an extensive investigation of the South San Francisco police, state narcotics agents and the county's crime detail.

Actual sale was made to South San Francisco Detective Tony Smith and a state agent, police said.

Mrs. George Hidzick Ending 12 Years in Girl Scouting

Daly City's Mrs. George Hidzick is celebrating 12 years in local San Mateo County Girl Scouting as chairman of "Happening—A Girl Scout Experience" event to be held in March, during the Saturday of Girl Scout week in 1972, March 11.

The event which will represent the girls of the five Northern San Mateo County Associations: Daly City, Pacifica, South San Francisco, San Bruno, and Tri-City (which includes Millbrae, Burlingame and Hillsborough), is being co-ordinated by Mrs. Hidzick with a committee of five association chairmen, five special events chairmen and five publicity chairmen of the Northern County.

"The event will be entertaining, informative and fun for all ages" according to Mrs. Hidzick and will include craft ideas, games and other participation booths as well as folk-dancing, songs and games and dramatics. In short, a capsule version of Girl Scout program will be included.

Mrs. Hidzick is a recipient of the Girl Scout Thanks badge, the highest award which an adult can receive and an award which can only be confirmed by the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council.

The "Happening" grew out of a smaller program held last year and a program in 1969 in Oakland called Scout-A-Whirl, for which Mrs. Hidzick was the local chairman. The trend throughout the complete Bay Area has been to consolidate these events by counties or sections of counties.

The logical choice was then for Mrs. Hidzick to chair an event in Northern San Mateo County of this type and Serramonte Shopping Center offered its facilities.

The seven Northern San Mateo County cities involved will present a group of ideas which will include service, arts, the home, the out of doors and the full spectrum of scouting activities.

Mrs. Hidzick, who was born in Ean Francisco, speaks Spanish; it was her major at the University of California (with minors in Latin American studies and physical education) and has been active with the local Spanish-speaking troops and units at day camp, including this year's co-leadership of troop No. 173 (a bi-lingual troop organized by Mr. Fernando Navarette, on a Foundation grant) and with Senior troop No. 24 which includes her own twin 16-year-old daughters who are juniors in high school. Her son George is 11. Mr. Hidzick is an engineering manager for Kemper Insurance.

Girl Scouts of all ages have enjoyed sharing her hobbies (for which she seems to have little time nowadays) of oil painting, arts and crafts and particularly, gourmet cooking which she shares each year with camp unit leaders.

"I've always enjoyed working with youth groups," she recently said. Before she married she worked for the Berkeley Recreation Department and first became interested in Girl Scouting because of an interest in community affairs and her belief that Girl Scouting developed future community leaders.

Louanne Heath

The San Francisco alumnae chapter of Alpha Iota sorority will open its 1972 calendar with a luncheon tomorrow afternoon according to Mrs. Barbara Wolowic, publicity lady for the group.

Mrs. Hildegard Hansen's Burlingame home will provide the setting for the event which is expected to draw a major portion of the members to her lovely apartment.

The meeting will commence at 11 a.m. and is expected to last until 2 p.m. Ladies planning to attend are requested to contact Mrs. Hansen, 344-3953.

THE BUSINESS sorority ladies may be holding a "strictly for ladies" luncheon but north peninsula men, with a taste for savory crab cioppino, will be dining, sans le femme, in the Our Lady of Mercy parish hall on Friday.

The annual event, one of gastronomical renown, is being chaired by Bill Feeley and Clyde Silverthorn.

Reservations are necessary as this dinner has been a sellout in each of its 15 years of existence. Pre-dinner refreshments will be served at 6 p.m. with dinner planned for 7 p.m.

SATURDAY, the ladies of Holy Angels Catholic Church will hold a Tea and Silent Auction in the parish hall, according to Mrs. George Sigigie, publicity chairman for the women's guild.

Mrs. Clark Kerns is the chairman of the occasion and she has reported gathering a large selection of items which will be sold, via silent bidding, between the hours of 12:30 and 2:30 p.m.

In addition to the many gift items (jewelry, vases, bric-a-brac, pictures, new and next to new things), there will be the unique contribution of Father Cornelius P. Rielly. The Rev. Father Rielly will do baby-sitting for the highest bidder, according to Mrs. Sigigie who predicted that this should be one of the contributions which will draw the liveliest bidding.

Coffee, tea, and small sandwiches, to be followed by dessert, will be served to takers. Everyone will be asked to contribute $1 to defray costs.

For more information about the tea, call Mrs. Kerns at 992-1875. No reservations are necessary, Mrs. Sigigie emphasized.

A second listing on the Holy Angels social calendar calls attention to the regular February business meeting, slated for February 2.

Mrs. David Rushka, chairman of promotions, has arranged for a talented flora artist from the Monterey Florist in San Francisco, to attend and demonstrate the gentle art of flower arranging.

The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m., fifteen minutes earlier than usual, to permit enough time for a thorough presentation of the program by the florist. Following the meeting the arrangements will be sold to raise money for the parish's fashion show and dinner party.

MRS. FRANCIS KELLY, chairman of "The San Francisco Scene," the fashion show and luncheon being readied for presentation by the Westlake Catholic Women, has announced the names of the ladies who will be modeling in the show.

Wearing the latest in fashion from the Livingston's stores in Stonestown and on Grant Avenue will be Mrs. Raymond Arata, Mrs. James Barnett, Mrs. Robert Cantwell, Mrs. Thomas Clark, Mrs. John Fry, Mrs. Robert Gelmi, Mrs. Patrick Gibney, Mrs. Robert Hunter, Mrs. John Latus, Mrs. Frank McCann, Mrs. Robert Rickett, Mrs. George San Pietro, Mrs. Robert San Pietro, Mrs. Robert Viglizzo, Mrs. Joseph Vollert, and the past president of the Westlake Catholic Women, Mrs. Frank Lawson.

In addition to the ladies who will be modeling, there will be junior models to wear the chic teen clothes from Livingston's. Junior models are Marianne Cremen, Patricia Ghiselli, Jeanine Griffin, and Maureen Murray.

This is the eighteenth year the Our Lady of Mercy parish has presented a fashion show luncheon and, in the tradition long established it will be an elegant afternoon in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel.

All proceeds from the February 12 gala will be contributed to the building fund of the parish school, according to Mrs. Donald Gianfermo, publicity chairman for the Westlake Catholic Women.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL HUPF have returned from a jaunt which took them to Houston, Texas, where they visited their daughter and son-in-law, the Michael Gordons, and toured the Astrodome and the headquarters of NASA.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK GREENWOOD dropped by the Palm Springs home of former Westmoor Principal Richard Cottrell and his family, during a recent visit in the southern part of the state.

State Legislation Topic Of Burlingame P-TA Meet Problems Of Students Is Subject

Guest speakers at tonight's Skyline School P-TA program will be three experts from the S.S.F. School District, who deal every day with the variety of problems that students face.

They are Pat Cannon, drug education coordinator, who also does guidance and counseling of students and families on related behavior problems; Pat Fawthrop, nurse at Skyline School, responsible for Family Life and drug education of students; and Pat Ross, nurse at El Camino High and Baden School, presently writing a thesis on children's health problems.

Also speaking will be students from local junior high and high schools, who will express their viewpoints on the observations made by the three adult speakers.

The theme of the program will center around communication between parents and children, so that decisions regarding personal and mental health, drugs, alcohol and so forth can be successfully made by the children themselves.

Program co-chairmen Mrs. F. Piazza and Mrs. D. Sherer say that there will be an opportunity for the audience to ask questions, and that interested parents from other schools are welcome to attend.

State Legislation Topic

Of Burlingame P-TA Meet

A view of the California Legislature will be presented Thursday by Mrs. J. B. Fiala and Mrs. Robert T. Adams, legislative advocates for the California P-TA. Mrs. Fiala and Mrs. Adams are the featured speakers at the January 20 meeting of San Mateo County's Seventh District, California P-TA to be held at 9:30 a.m., at the CTA Building, 1705 Murchison Drive in Burlingame.

They will explain their roles as volunteer legislative analysts as well as their function as lobbyists for the California P-TA.

Both Mrs. Fiala who lives in Visalia and Mrs. Adams whose home is in Lafayette, spend many hours in Sacramento during the legislative session.

They follow closely all legislation introduced and study in depth all bills which deal directly with children and youth in the fields of education, health and public welfare.

The paper results of their studies are sent to various State P-TA committees who in turn study the issues then recommend a P-TA position of support or opposition to the California P-TA Board of Managers.

Once this group has agreed to support or oppose a given measure, the legislative advocates inform the bill's author of the P-TA position.

They also inform all P-TA members in the state of the action taken by means of a legislative newsletter mailed to each unit P-TA president.

As another task they inform legislators concerning the P-TA legislative platform adopted biennially by the delegates to the State P-TA convention. They also bring the P-TA viewpoint to legislative committee hearings they may be asked to attend.

Business affairs to be conducted at the monthly meeting include the election of a nominating committee as well as two short reports concerned with youth affairs. Any interested P-TA member is welcome to attend.

Terra Nova Topics

By Rocky Montenegro

A new addition to Terra Nova this week is the Career Guidance Center, located in the Library Conference Room, and open to students, parents, and school staff for career research and vocational information.

The wide variety of occupational information available includes pamphlets and brochures collected from over 500 businesses and industries, occupational briefs and guides, career oriented audio-visual materials, government publications, and catalogs from schools, universities and colleges.

Also available is a cabinet file of aptitude tests, interest inventories, employment tests which are used in screening job applications. The Career Guidance Center also includes a computerized interest inventory — a test which can determine what jobs students are suited for.

Miss Marie Hackley career center aid, is in charge of the center, and is on hand every day between 9:30 and 1:15 to aid interested students and answer questions. The center is big enough to hold a class of students, and is also open for independent research. Students are given helpful guidelines to help them in their study.

Educational planning information concerning information on scholarships and special training opportunities offered at various junior colleges, state colleges, and universities is also available.

Similar career guidance centers have been set up in the other JUSD high schools and are open for community use.

Alex Berryhill, TN counselor who helped in planning the career centers, said work on it began in May, after it was approved by the district. The project was financed by school, district and federal funds.

By using the materials available, teachers will be able to prepare students for job requirements, interviews, and aptitude tests.

"The Career Guidance Center gives teachers an opportunity to re-develop their curriculum to meet the employment needs of today," remarked Berryhill.

Additional CSM Testing Dates

Additional testing dates were announced today by College of San Mateo to enable more students to qualify for enrollment in spring semester day classes, which start February 7.

Registrar Herbert Warren said the college's English placement test will be given again January 24 and the aptitude test January 25, both at 7 p.m. in the campus choral room.

Read This To The End

We've got a problem.

There may not be much that you or I can do about it, except urge more study on the part of the government.

It's what we have to do to our soil to come up with today's abundance of food for the affluent American.

It comes down to this. To get the land to produce, the farmer has to sock the soil with herbicides, pesticides, fungicides, nitrogen fertilizers. During heavy rains, this stuff washes out, and we get polluted rivers and lakes. Fish and wildlife die, beaches are restricted, and the natural cycle of life is impaired.

On the other hand, the California Farm Bureau reports that if chemicals are not used, the land will not produce.

"Florida agriculturalists established test plots which received normal fertilization but no agricultural pesticides herbicides or fungicides," a Bureau spokesman said.

"It was a total disaster. It wouldn't be worth harvesting either the cotton or the peanuts planted there. The weeds and grasses are so bad you couldn't get into the field... and there's nothing to harvest there if you could."

But you and I are suburbanites — it's none of our business, Right?

Well, you and I have spent millions of dollars (and will spend millions more) on secondary treatment for our sewage treatment that has helped hold the line against pollution of the bay and ocean.

What if I were to tell you that the money has been wasted? That other sources of pollution are more than enough to choke our environment? That even though you and I are spending like mad, the water is getting more and more foul? Would that fire you up enough to write to Earl Butz, new Secretary of Agriculture, and demand more research?

You see, in the case of farmland use of chemicals, there aren't too many answers — mostly questions.

"When the United States was settled," says Barry Commoner, director of the Center for the Biology of Natural Systems at Washington University, "the soil system was in a natural condition; the soil cycle was in balance maintaining its nitrogen reserve in the stable organic form. Only small amounts of inorganic salts drained off into the rivers which remained clear and unburdened with pollutants."

"As the continent was settled, the natural soil system was taken over for agricultural purposes. Plants were grown on the soil in amounts much greater than they would sustain in nature. The organic store of nutrients was gradually depleted and crop yields declined year by year," he said.

Commoner said farmers kept moving westward when the land wore out but this naturally came to an end about 1900.

"For a time, then nutrients were returned to the soil by use of animal manures and imported fertilizers," he said.

"With the growth of the chemical industry, it became possible to produce much cheaper inorganic nutrients as fertilizer. In the 1940's there began a striking increase all over the nation in the use of inorganic fertilizers. The use of these fertilizers has increased about seven-fold in the last twenty-five years."

He says it's possible to treat urban sewage to a point that pollution is minimal.

"But control of nutrients from farmland runoff would require treatment of the total mass of surface water — 'a forbidding task,' he said. 'We might undertake a huge program of controlling sewage and industrial waste only to find that rivers and lakes were dying from overfeeding by farmland fertilizer runoff.'"

So what's the answer?

Research.

There has to be a way, somehow, to feed a population of human beings on this planet and still preserve the agricultural resources for future generations.

Mr. Nixon? Mr. Butz? Democratic contenders? What about it?

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

Have you come to the end of the Christmas cookies at your home? Just yesterday the last cookie container was emptied in my home and it was time to bake again. Since the Christmas baking had been so fancy, a plain sugar cookie seemed like a good idea.

Fortunately I had just such a recipe in my files. It has been there for years, the unusual manner of presenting the ingredients had caught my eye and finally I tested it. I'm glad I did, for these are delicious, crisp, not-too-sweet cookies. Very simple to mix and bake with a generous return of about four dozen large cookies.

BILL COOKIES

Bill cookies and rightly they are named. If they are gone in a jiffy, no one can be blamed. Take one cup sugar, a half cup of lard, Cream these together, add to eggs and beat hard. One scant teaspoon soda, now put in a cup, Add a mite of hot water and now 'twil foam up; Sift three cups flour and place in a bowl. Mix smoothly and swiftly, and then neatly roll; If dough is too soft, a little flour add, I'll assure better cookies your husband never had.

The "mite of hot water" I translated as one tablespoon. Add it to the creamed ingredients and mix in the flour last. I find that chilling the dough for a couple hours makes rolling out the cookies easier. Roll out on floured board to a little less than a quarter inch. Cut with large cookie cutter. Place on a greased cookie sheet. Prick top of cookies with fork and sprinkle generously with granulated sugar. You may want to sprinkle a bit of cinnamon too. Bake in 350-degree oven about 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

SINCE THE OVEN is hot for baking the cookies, why not bake a casserole for dinner tonight?

COUNTRY CASSEROLE

8-ounce package medium noodles
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
2 cans tomato sauce (8 ounces each)
8-ounce package cream cheese
1 pint cottage cheese
1/4 cup sour cream
one-third cup green onions, chopped (tops too)

Cook the eight-ounce noodles as directed on package. Drain. Brown the pound ground beef in skillet, crumbling with fork. Add the teaspoon salt and two cans tomato sauce and remove from heat.

Combine the eight ounces cream cheese, one pint cottage cheese, fourth cup sour cream and third cup green onions. Mix well.

Spoon half the noodles into lightly greased 2-quart casserole. Cover with half of cheese mixture and half of meat sauce. Repeat with remaining noodles, cheese and meat sauce.

Bake uncovered in a 350-degree oven for about 30 minutes or until heated through and bubbly. Serves 8.

THIS LAST IDEA is for a dessert or rather an afternoon treat that will delight the youngsters in your family. It's rich and chocolaty, perfect for the sweet tooth gang.

DESSERTWICHES

Butter both sides of two bread slices, sprinkle with sugar. On one slice of bread sprinkle 1 1/2 tablespoons chocolate bits and top with 1 1/2 tablespoons chopped nuts. Press second slice of bread on top.

Place on cookie sheet lined with aluminum foil. Bake in 375-degree oven 8 to 10 minutes. Cut in quarters while still warm and sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

ON THIS HIGH calorie note, I'll close.

Counselors for Foreign Study Abroad Appointed

'Lion' is Next Production for Skyline Theater

The audition date for Skyline College's next dramatic production, "Lion in Winter," have been set by director Richard Rohrbacher for February 7 and 8 at 1 p.m. in the college's Studio Theatre.

Daly City residents are encouraged to audition for the show and will receive two units of college credit through Skyline College for their efforts if chosen for a part.

In an effort to enlist the aid of the adult community, Rohrbacher stressed that previous dramatic experience is not necessary.

The movie version of James Goldman's work recently played Peninsula theaters starring Katherine Hepburn and Peter O'Toole and garnered Miss Hepburn her third academy award.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ross of Daly City have been appointed counselors for the Foreign Study League's 1972 summer study program abroad for high school and college students in this area.

The Foreign Study League is the largest and oldest educational establishment of its kind in the world, specializing in foreign study-travel programs, and it offers a wide variety of programs in almost every part of the globe, including Europe, Africa, Japan and the Middle East.

Students have a broad choice of subjects including foreign languages (taught by instructors indigenous to the country), political science, comparative cultures, music and art appreciation, as well as the cultures of each nation visited, Mrs. Ross said.

The average course lasts from four to six weeks and is equally divided between formal classes and field trips. Students usually take classes at schools where European students study during the regular academic year and live in residential facilities right on campus. Instructors are both American and foreign.

The majority of courses are accredited for high school and college work. The students are fully protected as to completion of courses and round-trip transportation.

"The program will give students in our area an opportunity to experience first hand the sights, sounds of other nations and ideas and thoughts of other peoples," Mrs. Ross said.

Students from the area will be personally accompanied by the Rosses on the six-week "Comparative Culture Tour" to Europe, leaving June 29 and returning August 7.

A meeting will be held at 153 Westdale Avenue on February 3, at 8 p.m. to discuss the tour.

Members of the San Francisco Symphony will join College of San Mateo's College-Community Choir in a public program on January 30.

They are presenting Bach's "Wachet, Auf!" Cantata No. 140 and Handel's "Dixit Dominus." The program begins at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of San Mateo High School.

Penna New SSFC of C President

By BOB PETERSON
Picture Page One

New South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce President John Penna accepted the gavel of leadership Friday night with two promises for 1972.

Penna said the chamber will "move in a more positive direction" toward beautification of the city in an effort to show South San Francisco is progressive.

His second promise was to try to "rejuvenate certain areas of the city" that are showing signs of decay. One means of doing this, he said, would be by seeking help through governmental agencies.

More than 250 persons were packed into the Brentwood Lodge to witness the ceremonies that included honoring six residents as "outstanding citizens." The recipients were selected from a list of 27 candidates for the award.

As in past years, judges made all presentations with the exception of one, being made by the South San Francisco Mayor. The installation was performed by United States Chamber of Commerce executive Richard D. McHenry.

Superior Court Judge Robert Miller presented the outstanding citizen award to S. William Meehan for his work with Rotary Plaza, Inc., a senior citizens complex. "Bill Meehan stuck with his dream," said Judge Miller.

Municipal Court Judge Walter Capaccioli presented Fire Chief John Marchi with his award for 28 years of dedicated public service to the city. Marchi will retire this spring.

"He was willing to give just a little bit more to the city," said Judge Capaccioli in making the presentation.

A second award to a public servant went to Asst. Police Chief August Terragno. It was presented by Superior Court Judge G. Brooks Ice, who also is a long-time friend of Terragno's.

In making the presentation, Judge Ice referred to Terragno as "my friend of long standing." Terragno also will be retiring this spring after 42 years as a South San Francisco policeman.

Municipal Court Judge F. Jose de Larios made the outstanding citizen presentation to Mrs. Marie Brill for her many community service activities, and especially for her work with the Peninsula Oral School for the Deaf.

"Her service has gone far beyond the bonds of personal interest," said Judge de Larios.

The award to Basil Cavaleri was made by Mayor Bill Borba, who also introduced relatives of Cavaleri who were visiting from Italy. Cavaleri was honored for his "unselfish service to the community."

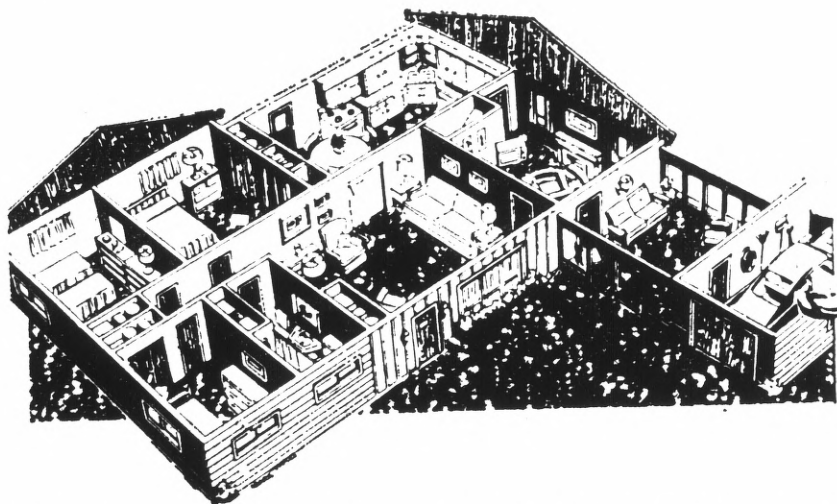

A sixth recipient, Mrs. Celia Bronstein, being honored also for community service work, was not present. She did, however, send a note saying she accepts the award "with deep humility."

Girl Scout Roundup

A DC Meeting for Adults

January 25 will be the date for the adult Girl Scout Association meeting for Daly City at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church's social hall, from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30.

Association Chairman Mrs. William Kennaugh said parent-child communication will be the highlight of the meeting, and that a panel discussion will be presented by Miss Toni Paladino and Miss Pat Scott of the Northern San Mateo County Mental Health Clinic.

Mrs. Rodman Barnes, director of Girl Scout consultants, explained that definitions of problems common to youth leaders involved in the community, including the individual feelings, and projections of parent-child emotions, will be explored.

A MOVIE, a community workshop, a panel of local high school-age boys and girls and an art workshop are all included in the Daly City Girl Scout Cadette Conference for this year, scheduled for Saturday January 29 from 10 a.m. until 2:30 at Serramonte High in Daly City.

The program, which is open to all girls, ages 12 to 14, in the Daly City-Colma area requires that the girls take a bag lunch and 50 cents to cover supplies.

"Who Is Sylvia?" a film presented by the University of California Extension Division

Media Center focuses on the relationships of a 14-year-old girl to her family, to her school contacts, and to her friends.

A workshop discussion of communications with adults will be led by Miss Julie Jensen, a special counselor at Jefferson High and a member of the S. F. Bay Girl Scout Council's special "thruster" program.

Mrs. George Hidzick, Cadette program consultant will help the girls make decorations for themselves as souvenirs and extras to be donated to a local hospital ward as a service project.

After lunch, high school boys and girls will present a panel discussion on dating. Senior opportunity girls, Denise Lapachet and Celina Bower will show their slides.

The planning committee includes 10 girls and three adults. Messrs. Stanley Rushton, Rush Manbert and Wm. Kennaugh advised the girls.

Representing Troop No. 8 is Debbie Thurman, Karen Pleich and Paulette Young; No. 716, Patty Deous and Mona Franke; No. 2584, Lynn Sheer, Joan Scarpino and Laura Gomez. Cathy Fernandez and Janice Luders represented Troop No. 1620.

About 100 local girls are expected to attend.

LOCAL GIRL SCOUT leaders, troop mothers and fathers, as well as community leaders who remember their supporters with Girl Scout cookies, are reminded that troops must have their orders in to the association's cookie manager by January 21.

Troop cookie managers will receive their permission slips, instruction sheets, etc. from January 27 to February 7. The sale is scheduled for March 3-19.

GIRL SCOUT Sustaining Membership Enrollment, (SME), goals, as confirmed by Al Schwarzbach, Northern San Mateo County board member, total $1,000 to be raised locally.

Tri-City (Burlingame, Millbrae and Hillsborough) Association is expected to raise $3,500; Daly City and South San Francisco have a goal of $2,500 each; Pacifica is scheduled to meet its $1,500 goal and San Bruno should total $1,000.

SME is a program by which parents and friends of Girl Scouting erase the deficit caused by financial support decreases. UBAC, an important fiscal supporter of Girl Scouting has had a cut of 12 per cent in their collections.

"To provide Girl Scouting to the underprivileged, the overprivileged and very importantly, to the average middle class girl," is the goal recently announced by Al Schwarzbach,

AL SCHWARZBACH
SME Committeeman

Northern San Mateo County Sustaining Membership Committee member to the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council.

Sustaining Membership Enrollment, SME, recognizes the fact that although 6 per cent of council operating expenses come from UBAC, some additional funds from cookie and calendar sales, and camps are self-supporting for summer operation, the deficit must be picked up by some other source, according to Mr. Schwarzbach.

That source has come to mean SME. He and his committee have recruited local "Dads for Daughters" from all Northern San Mateo cities and areas, who in turn recruit captains and assistants from each Girl Scout troop.

"The actual council budget is far from being able to provide adequate programs for all interested girls without the specific help of parents and friends," he recently stated.

Parents and friends of scouting are the only sources contacted for this fund-raising event which does not solicit the general public. The drive this year will extend from January 22 to February 5, 1972.

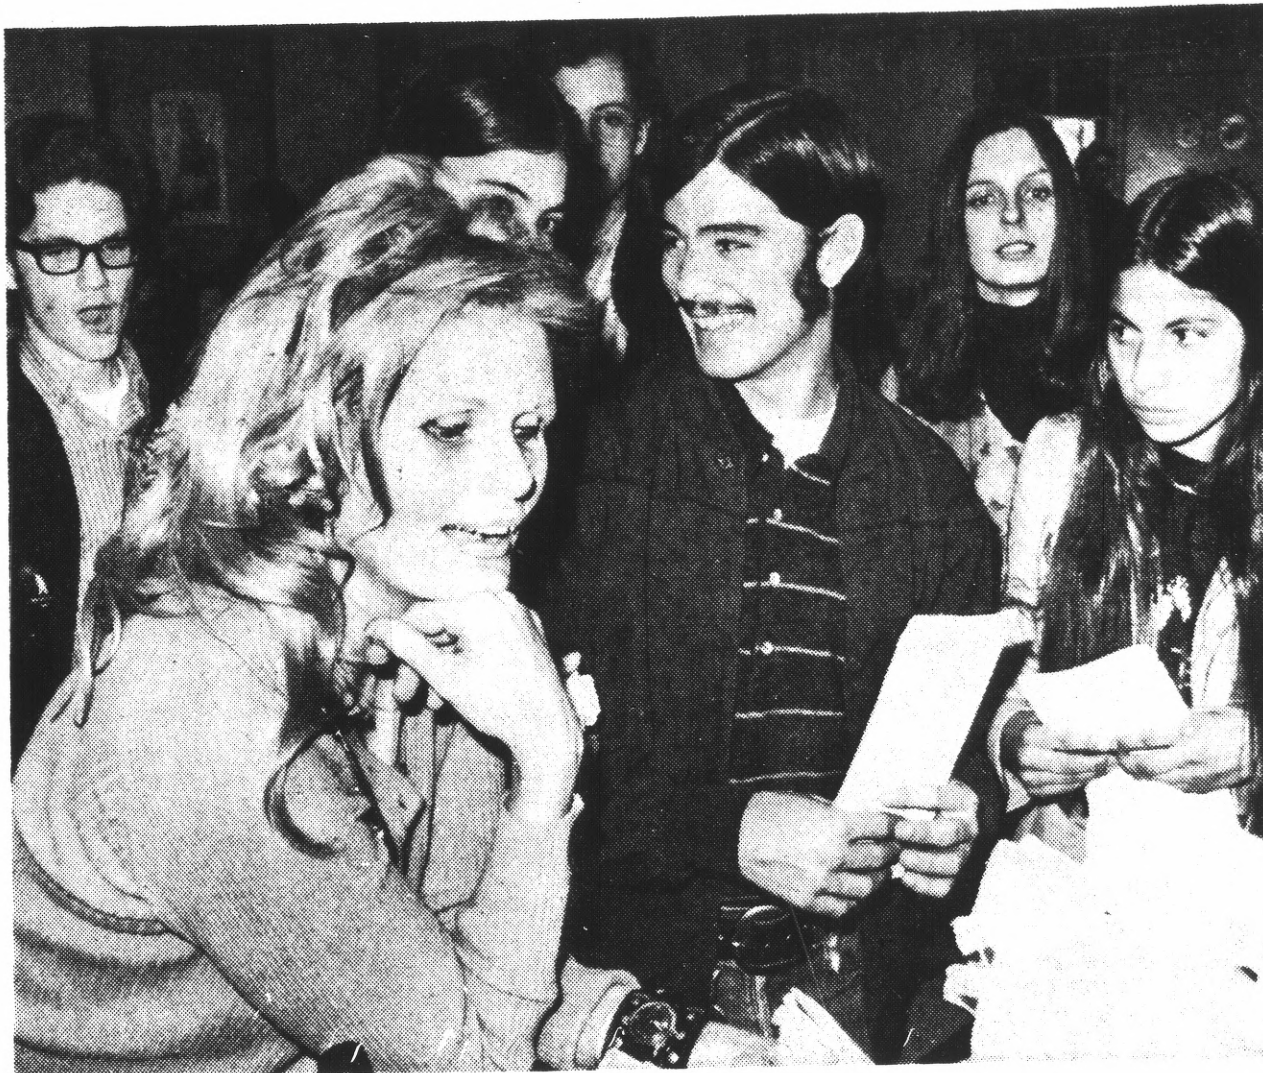

Schwarzbach quoted the San Francisco Bay Girl Scout Council's publication "Facts at Your Fingertips" to show that it costs the group $25 per girl to involve her in the Girl Scout experience.

Schwarzbach was appointed to the council's SME Committee after his highly successful performance last year as Coordinator for Daly City, during which time he doubled the amount contributed by parents and friends of Scouting for his area.

He is of a Scouting family. His mother was a Scout in Chicago; his wife is the director of organizers for a local San Mateo Association; his oldest daughter is a Cadette Girl Scout; his youngest daughter is a Junior Girl Scout.

The potential of his three-year-old son David, becoming a Boy Scout has involved him in San Mateo's Boy Scout movement on its board, and as chairman of "school night" to join scouting.

He is also interested in solutions to local community problems and is a member of Congregation B'nai Israel.

SC 'Mattress' Director Seeks Adult Actors

Daly City residents that like to sing, act or dance, but who have been prevented from exercising their talents because of other considerations which tie them down during the day, may find their opportunity in Skyline College's upcoming production of "Once Upon a Mattress."

Director Ronald Weidman has initiated a special campaign to induce this potential resource of talent into entering into the college drama department productions by making it very simple for the adult member of the community to fit rehearsals into his daily routine.

Weidman has scheduled all of the rehearsals from now until the May 19 opening date in the evening.

This is true for the auditions, as well, which will be held in the Main Theatre of Skyline College at 7 p.m. on February 9 and 10.

Two units of college credit will be given to all those selected for parts.

Audition materials will be made available beginning February 7 in Room 160 of Building One.

On the Roster of junior models are, Miss Marianne Cremen, Miss Patricia Ghiselli, Miss Jeanine Griffin and Miss Maureen Murray.

Garden Village 'Portrait Gallery'

The Garden Village P-TA, with the help of the school's students, will convert the multi-use room into a "Portrait Gallery" for tonight's Art Festival.

All the youngsters will display a "portrait" of a member of their family or a household pet, to be identified by parents, from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the afternoon or at 7:30 p.m. when the Gallery will be open for viewing.

The Ford Team ends car-price confusion!

1972 Fords, Torinos, Mustangs, Mavericks and Thunderbirds are now Sticker Priced less than '71 Models

That's right... '72 Fords are now sticker priced below what the '71's were priced last year at this time. The ending of the 7% Excise Tax on cars and 10% on light trucks means the Ford Team can roll-back the prices...roll them way back to less than '71 prices a year ago.

Now you can start off the new year with a new car for less. Beautiful LTD's with the quiet-plus ride... less than last year's model. F-100 Pick-Ups, America's Number One pick-up... less than last year's model. Mustangs, Maverick 2-door, 4-door and Grabbers... less than last year's models. Torinos, Thunderbirds, wagons... less than last year's models. Optional equipment?... less than last year.

Charges Rebutted

Devil's Slide Bypass: 'State Got a Good Deal'

By JOHN CURRY

Attempts to fan the flames of anger over the state's acquisition of right of way for the proposed new Devil's Slide bypass highway haven't met with any success from official circles and apparently won't.

A published report earlier this month that the state Division of Highways had paid far too much for severance damages to Deane and Deane, Inc., is unfounded, according to both the Deane organization and the staff of State Senator Arlen F. Gregorio (D-San Mateo), the latter after conducting a little investigation of its own.

"The state got a pretty good deal," a Deane spokesman said this week.

The charge, never traced to anyone, was that the Division of Highways had paid $850,000 to Deane and Deane in severance damages on 1100 acres of land east of the bypass right of way. This 1100 acres is mainly steep and unbuildable and this sum nearly equalled the fair market value of it, the report said.

This isn't so, according to the Deane spokesman. For its $850,000, the state got right of way for the highway and bicycle and horse trails, construction easements and settlement of severance.

John Gilroy, Gregorio's field secretary in Sacramento, said he found from the Division of Highways that the right of way and slope easements containing 195 acres from behind Pedro Point south the Montara cost $385,000.

Severance damages of the 1100 acres was $465,000. Severance is required by law because by cutting the 1800-acre McNee ranch property in two as it did in this case, the value of the eastern portion was diminished.

Negotiations between the state and developer put the severance at 40 per cent of the land value, Gilroy said he learned. The land value was estimated at roughly $1000 an acre, Gilroy said.

Most of it is earmarked for parks and open space in the county master plan. It could be, Gilroy noted, that with 40 per cent severance now paid, the county might pick up title for a future park by paying the remaining 60 per cent of market value.

If there was a foulup, it had to be in communications between the Division of Highways and San Mateo County officials, Gilroy noted.

It wasn't until about December 1, 1971, mere weeks before escrow closed on the deal December 30, that the Division of Highways finally contacted San Mateo County about possible county park acquisition of the watershed and the proposed Pedro Creek Park on the 1100 acres. The state even offered to delay escrow.

It was too late by then, however, and county officials have indicated they thought the state paid too much for its right of way in any case, Gilroy related.

Both a state and a private appraiser hired by the state came up with the same value for the property, according to Division of Highways Division 4 Chief Bill Kenney in San Francisco.

The report early this month put the estimated value of the 1800-acre McNee ranch at $865 an acre, averaging buildable and unbuildable acreage.

This should have read assessed value, which is about one-fourth of fair market value, the Deane spokesman said. "The deal is closed and over with. I don't see what we could do now," Gilroy said.

Construction of the four-lane highway is to begin sometime next year. The west side of the McNee ranch property has been laid out as a golf course surrounded by condominiums and a hotel on North Montara Beach.

Gregorio pushed through a bill last month, however, that provided $630,000 to buy the beach and bluff, just enough of it to prevent the hotel and the championship golf course. Negotiations were to begin this month for acquisition of the property for a state beach.

An art exhibit will be one facet of the "Evening With Barnaby Conrad" which will take place Sunday afternoon and evening. Dick Hazel, a partner in the Spanishtown Gallery in Half Moon Bay confers with Lillian Scruggs of Millbrae, chairman of artists and galleries for the "Evening." The benefit will also include champagne, a buffet dinner, and a talk by Barnaby Conrad.

Films Focus On Snakes

Bats and wolves weren't all that scary even when I was a child. Then along came rats, sharks and insects to unnerve my adult viewing pleasure.

Now I'm being paid back for all the times I turned my eyes away from the screen when a rattle or water snake did his villainy. There are at least three new film projects that will focus on snakes. You might, according to your hang-ups or masochistic mood, be prepared for the slithering onslaught:

Bryan Foy is making "Cobra." Russ Meyer is shooting "Blacksnake" in the Barbados and there is a British production titled "Asp."

Orson Welles will be the host-narrator and star of the television special based on "Future Shock," that fascinating and enlightening book by Alvin Toffler that has rocked the nation.

And speaking of books, don't ever underestimate a title or a subject. A good action or adventure novel, even a sentimental love story was automatically up for grabs by the movie industry in the past. Now anything goes, especially if it has sex in the title or the story.

Dr. David Reuben's best selling book, "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Sex But Were Afraid to Ask," has been bought by Woody Allen's company and will star himself and Lynn Redgrave. Also signed are Tony Randall and Gene Wilder. With that lineup, at least we know it will be a comedy.

Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse must have a superstition about the word world being a good luck symbol. First they wrote and scored "Stop the World I Want to Get Off" and now they're waiting for backing in New York before opening their latest creative partnership with "It's a Funny Old World We Live In and the World's Not Entirely to Blame."

Newley will direct and star in the Broadway musical about God and the devil for which there are 17 new songs.

Confiscating films for moral reasons is hardly news. But it is rare that a film has been banned for political reasons. Report is that Lebanese police seized two prints of "The Confession," starring Yves Montand and his wife Simone Signoret after the Soviet Embassy in Beirut complained that "showing would harm relations between the two countries."

The film is based on the life of Arthur London, a member of the Czech government who was arrested and tortured during the Stalin era. He was subsequently released and now lives in Paris.

D.C. Teacher Challenges Survey

A serious challenge to the fairness of Assemblyman Leo Ryan's public opinion survey, in the question of teacher strikes, has been raised by Robert Delzell, president of Local 1481 of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, in Daly City and Pacifica.

"Assemblyman Ryan has chosen to focus his entire attention on the question of whether teachers have the right to strike and has totally ignored the central issue in the Daly City strike last Fall of whether teachers should have the right to collectively negotiate with the school board for a legal contract," Delzell stated.

"No teacher wants to strike. Teachers are deeply disturbed at the prospect of disrupting the education of their students, and they know that striking is painful both financially and emotionally. They do not enjoy having to settle their disputes with the school board in the streets."

"The central issue in the Daly

City teacher's strike was not the question of whether teacher strikes are legal, as Assemblyman Ryan implies, but he man Ryan implies, but the question of why the Daly City teachers have felt that it was necessary to strike every year for three years in a row. Assemblyman Ryan chose to ignore the underlying causes of the strike, and this is unfair to the teachers and unfair to the public.

Land Swap Probe Asked

South San Francisco's council watchdog group, Citizens for Responsible Government, has asked that the matter of a land swap between the city and South San Francisco Seawater Company be placed on the January 17 council agenda.

CRG president Bob Albright said, "We are requesting the city council to take action, either to void the entire transaction or demand adequate compensation for the city based upon new appraisals."

It is contended by CRG that a land exchange originating back

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL CHICKEN.

The good taste of chicken depends on freshness. The fresher the chicken, the better the chicken. And freshness is what makes the difference between Foster Farms fryers and most other chickens.

We're local. Here in the San Joaquin Valley. You see, a lot of other poultry comes from out of state. It takes four, maybe five days to get to your store.

And every day a bird is on the road, it loses a bit more of its fresh flavor.

We start sending our chicken your way hours before sunrise. So it's waiting for you at the store when you do your shopping.

That means that with Foster Farms, you sit down to the same fresh chicken at your house as we eat here on the ranch.

Methadone
User Held
For Drugs

A member of the methadone drug treatment program was arrested at his San Bruno home Friday and charged with possession of drugs and drug paraphernalia.

San Bruno police said Jerry Lee Hull, 21, a truck driver residing at 137 San Marco Avenue, Apartment 4, was being held without bail at county jail.

Police allegedly found 12 "balloons" of what they suspect is heroin, along with books on how to handle drugs, a department spokesman said.

They also found a small quantity of marijuana, it was reported.

Police went to Hull's address to question him on a charge of violating probation. It was at this time they allegedly found the drugs the spokesman said.

$2,000 Fire
In San Bruno

A $2,000 fire to an apartment in The Place, a newly-built complex in San Bruno, was apparently purposely started Thursday.

Police said they responded to 101 Picadilly Place where a 19-year-old girl, described as dependent, told them she had set the fire.

Firemen estimated damage at $1,000 to the building and $1,000 to contents. The fire started on the drapes and burned rugs, chairs, floors and did smoke damage.

The girl was taken to Peninsula Hospital, where she had been under psychiatric treatment, police said.

Rams Fall, Jeff Takes First; Both Coast Teams Triumph

By JERRY LITTELL

Unfortunately for the Westmoor High School Rams the officials in the Friday Ram-South San Francisco basketball game kept calling fouls on the Warriors, a situation which ultimately led to the Rams' first defeat in North Peninsula League play.

During a routine-hecky fourth period the Warriors were called for four quick fouls. Four times the Rams went to the line and came back dry from possible bonus situations. Those misses became three-point plays for South City.

The score went from a 36-36 tie to a 45-38 Warrior lead as SSF cashed in on all four missed free throws with field goals of their own en route to a 45-43 victory in Daly City.

In other conference action yesterday, Jefferson downed El Camino, 64-43; Oceana blasted Half Moon Bay, 77-35; and Terra Nova beat Serramonte, 82-55.

The Warrior-Ram game was one of the most amazing contests of the year on the Peninsula.

Usually patient and methodical Westmoor committed 28 turnovers while the Warriors turned the ball over 24 times. Yet the score, despite the rapidity of ball exchanges, remained extremely low. The 45-point winning total was one-point less than the Warriors had scored in one half during their last outing.

Warrior coach Gene Mullin inserted junior Rhod Wallace into the starting lineup for the first time this season and the SSF press was working well.

Westmoor tried to run with the visitors, and it proved a deadly mistake. Eight times in eight minutes Westmoor turned the ball over yet SSF could only get a 9-2 lead.

Good defense at times forced both teams into those numerous mishaps as balls were stolen on the press time and again before either team would reach half-court. Then a combination of sub Mark Hillsinger's shooting against the Westmoor zone and foul trouble on the Rams put the game away in the final quarter.

Gary Stoller, the Rams' leading scorer to date, fouled out with the score 38-36, SSF, with three and one-half minutes left. The Warriors outscored Westmoor 7-2 in the final moments as Hillsinger and Brad Lefler both put in the clinching buckets.

Tied at 30-all at halftime, Jefferson rallied with a 34-point second half on Kenny Smith's inside scoring and downed crippled Camino. The Colts were playing without forwards Bob Marty and Kevin Hornick, injury and illness cases, and just couldn't stay up in the second half.

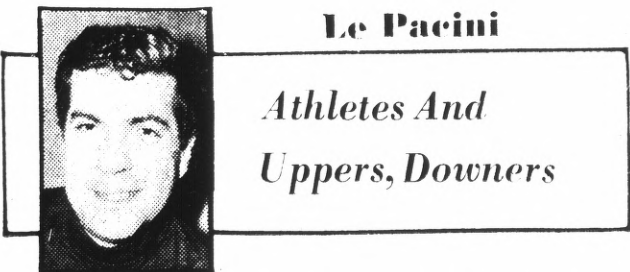

Smith, the league's leading scorer with a 21.5 average in three games, popped for 31 points as the Indians were left in sole possession of first place in the conference standings.

Two Sharks, Jim Ribera and Art Thomas, were perfect from the floor as the Oceana five completely dismantled the visiting Cougars.

Ribera hit all five of his floor shots, including a 60-foot bank shot to end the game, while Thomas popped in all eight of his attempts. Good shooting ended there, however, as the two teams missed a total of 25 free throws.

Held to three points in the first half, John Racanelli came through with 17 after intermission as Terra Nova won its second game in a row. George Yaron also added 13 in that second half as the Tigers took a seesaw 36-35 lead for the first time three minutes into the second half and made it stick.

Racanelli was nine for 10 from the charity stripe in that second half.

Le Pacini
Athletes And Uppers, Downers

Worldwide concern has been translated into headlines in the past year or two about the over-dependence of more and more athletes on amphetamines (uppers), barbiturates (downers) and anabolic steroids (body builders), but out of all adversity, it has been written, rises some good, and this case doesn't seem to be the exception. Drug usage by athletes seems about to launch a whole new profession — Sampling Officer.

The sudden emergence of the Sampling Officer, now only in Europe but almost certain to become a part of the American milieu in the near future, appears to be the prototype for the maxim, "Find a need and fill it."

To understand the function of a Sampling Officer, one must first understand the problem of proving that an athlete has been on drugs. There is only one foolproof way — urinalysis. And even that isn't foolproof if an athlete has the sense to engage a "clean" friend to provide him with a fake sample, as has been done in Europe on some of the early experimental work on this problem. The only way to relieve the problem, said Paul Gardener, Fellow of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain in a special article for the Sporting News recently, is to require the athlete to urinate in the presence of a witness, so that there can be no possibility of withholding evidence.

"It is an embarrassing business," says Gardener. "Some athletes have found it impossible to micturate on demand, forcing the sampling officers to accompany them back to their hotels, watching eagle-eyed until the precious sample could be obtained."

So that is what a Sampling Officer does, and the possible ramifications of such a profession stagger the imagination.

Obviously, and not necessarily in order of importance, the new profession of Sampling Officer would:

- 1) Provide Governor Reagan a wider base from which to operate his put - healthy - welfare - recipients - to - work program.
- 2) Would add a new dimension to the traditional bed-check.
- 3) Would do much for sagging cocktail party chatter ("And what do you do, sir?" "Why, every day I watch...").
- 4) Would provide a wonderful outlet for those fellas who could never quite make it as athletes, but like to stay close to the game.
- 5) Would take a lot of weirdos off the streets.

But before the Sampling Officer matriculates to the United States, there are two burning questions to be answered:

- 1) How would these people be trained for their jobs?
- 2) Would the new technique bring baseball into the gray area it has fought to stay out of for so many years — anti-trust legislation? Does transporting urine across state lines constitute interstate commerce? If it is interpreted as such, and it might well be, because if a player's urine is negative he can play, and if he can play, he's commercial, then there may be trouble on the horizon.

These are thoughts to be pondered before throwing the concept of the Sampling Officer into the national job pool.

A SPORTS WRITER for one of the local dailies recently seriously proposed that sports officials be aided by instant television replay. In other words, if there is a protest, the protesting team could request instant replay and the officials would be obliged to adjust their decision, if need be, on the strength of the re-run.

This proposal was and is, and probably always will be, absurd. Leaving aside the probable technical and practical problems, such as, for example, holding up play to watch TV after every controversy (games involving guys like Leo Durocher or Woody Hayes would take weeks to play), it would effectively remove most of the authority of the officials, and without that authority there would be chaos. A machine might be able to call a ball or a strike, but could it cool tempers, avoid potential riots, or just simply shut up guys like Durocher and Hayes?

Additionally, we feel it would be a waste of money, as well as time, because instant replay as it is used today shows most officials to be right 99 per cent of the time. And anybody who has ever played an organized sport knows that most officials know when they've blown that one of 100, and they'll almost always make it up for you later — if you keep your mouth shut, that is. (Notice that the athletes who never complain overtly — in other

Crestmoor's Cagers May Be 'Toughest'

By TERRANCE FREETHY

Before this season is over the Crestmoor High School Falcons may be the toughest basketball team to beat in overtime.

Why not? They've had the most practice. It's too bad that they have to learn it the hard way: they lost their second straight overtime game Friday 38-37, to the Burlingame Panthers.

Just two days earlier they had lost in double overtime to Capuchino.

Last night's game started off with two hoops by the Panthers' Doc Scheppler. Crestmoor came back to match Burlingame and it looked as though it would be a high scoring affair. This was not to be the case. Burlingame could only muster three more points and the quarter ended with Crestmoor leading, 10-7.

The Panthers got six second-quarter points from Phil Williamson and went into the locker room leading, 18-17.

The half-time rest did nothing to improve the offensive production of either team.

In the third quarter the Panthers got some added boost strength from center Howie Huff who sat out most of the first 16 minutes with foul trouble.

The lead switched hands until Scheppler hit a long jumper at the end of the quarter and put Burlingame ahead, 27-24.

Burlingame got the ball behind by two with 2:00 remaining and elected to stall for the last shot of the game. After a missed shot and two missed tip-ins Mike Strohmaier grabbed a rebound and put it in, forcing the game into overtime.

Crestmoor scored first on a basket by Emmett McCourt but a twisting lay-in by Dan Pasiecznik tied the score. The Panthers scored again on two free-throws by Strohmaier.

Scheppler had a chance to put the game out of reach with free-throws but missed and was called for a foul trying to rebound.

Bruce Patterson could only convert once and Crestmoor trailed by one.

The Panthers were generously willing to give the Falcons one last chance to win when Strohmaier was called for a foul with three seconds left, but Larry Fester missed his one and one free throw and the Panthers heaved a collective sigh of relief.

MPL Wrestling: The Race Is on

By DAN BERTELOTTI

The race is on in the Mid-Peninsula League wrestling season.

Both Crestmoor and San Mateo, league co-favorites, took wins on Friday afternoon as the "Gats" dropped Capuchino, 46-21, and the Falcons outscored Burlingame, 43-24.

In the other MPL match, Hillsdale took Aragon, 42-15.

"Nobody in the MPL is expected to give either Crestmoor or San Mateo much competition for the title, which sets up what should be the championship confrontation the night of February 4 on the Falcon mats.

The Beateats actually clinched their win by taking four pins out of the first five battles. Mike Harney, Gary Stanton, and Charlie Simon all had impressive performances.

Dale Curry was his usual quick self in taking the 193's, pinning his unfortunate opponent in just 0:58 of the first round.

Dale's coach, Charlie Douglas, can only say, "Dale is always improving." For anybody with the unenviable fate of running into Mr. Curry late on in the season, that's just plain scary.

The final card of the day, the Unlimited division, turned out to be the best one for excitement. San Mateo's Jim Grimsley fell behind Cap's John Copello early, but recovered to take 5-2 lead in the third round.

Copello, never one to let up, came back to grab a 6-6 tie moments later. Then Grimsley, though out weighed by 20 pounds, got an escape point with just seconds remaining and claimed a 7-8 win.

Even though Crestmoor finally ended up taking home the big prize in its win over Burlingame, the Panthers did come up with some great individual efforts.

Senior crumcher Bob Mennis took his sixth pin in a row in the 167's. And Dan Irons took an important match for the Panthers in the 122's, when Bob Littlefield, Crestmoor's returning all-leaguer, came up with an injury and couldn't participate.

NPL Leadership Earns No Laurels

SOME TROUBLE with basketball scheduling in the North Peninsula League: Twice so far South San Francisco has had games switched around, and on one instance the switch wasn't made until 1:30 of the afternoon the game was to be played. It was changed to a twilight game ... anybody who had been planning to go in the afternoon was plain out of luck. All of which prompted more than one coach (they wish to remain nameless, naturally) to complain about leadership in the league office. Bad news.

TALK ABOUT COMPETITIVE: spirit: San Mateo High wrestler Charles Simon temporarily quit the team last week. He was dissatisfied with his performance. Strange enough, since he was unbeaten and one of the best wrestlers the school ever had. "He thought he should have a pin every time out," says Bearcat coach Charles Douglas. "I tell the team before a match that I expect them all to get pins, but if they don't, they don't worry about it. Charles does. He has tremendously high standards."

Douglas persuaded Simon to return for Friday's match; Simon celebrated with a pin.

CARLMONT BASKETBALL coach Terry Stogner has read all about the exploits of Hillsdale sophomore forward Rod Williams ... and he watched Williams almost personally beat his Scots in a preseason game. He knows Williams is good.

But he thinks Williams might get a little competition from his own sophomore forward, Bruce Herron. "I think it's possible that by the time Bruce is a senior, he'll be a better all-around player than Williams," Stogner says. "Bruce has already got the good outside shot. He's still a little shy on the boards, but he's working on that."

THE RUMOR MILL: Latest loose talk floating around the county has Aragon football coach Hal Huffman resigning the position; further talk is that Half Moon Bay coach Jerry Murphy is v-e-r-y interested.

Rumor No. 2—That Serra football coach Jess Freitas is considering installing a power-I offense next fall, with Jimmy Biscoe or former San Mateo athlete Tom Selph at the controls. This year's quarterback, Jeff Linton (who ran a pro-T) was talking of transferring to Hillsdale.

HAM ON WRY — CSM basketball coach Bobby Pounds was around at the end of last night's Times-Tribune cage biggie, which The Times won, 58-49. Afterward, a Times man complained that the margin of victory should have been larger. "Listen," Pounds said, laying a friendly hand on his shoulder. "Take the win, take the win."

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK is Serra's Vince O'Leary, who popped for 24 in the Padres' big win over Riordan Friday night. "They were expecting me to drive for layins a lot," O'Leary says. "All I had to do was pull up and shoot." O'Leary had plenty of chances to handle the ball, since he was personally breaking the Riordan press.

O'Leary will be a guest on KCSM-TV's Sportscope show Thursday night at 8:30 ... along with yours truly.

Athletes And Uppers, Downers

words, show an official up to the crowd — rarely get calls over which they have to argue.

We've shouted kill da bum as often as anyone, but deep down we have tremendous respect for all athletic officials. They must make lightning decisions under pressure, and just like any great athlete, they'll occasionally blow one under that pressure; but also, like any great athlete, they'll hang in and make those next 99 plays absolutely the way they were intended to be called.

As for instant replay, we think it could be more usefully employed in the press box, scanning the errors sports writers often perpetrate on their copy and its readers, and which are never made up.

KAREN NELSON, sports editor (that's right folks, a girl sports editor) of the Skyline Press, Skyline College's weekly newspaper, offered a different view of Howard Cosell in a recent exclusive interview with Cosell's wife, Mary Edith.

If a man's basic character could be condensed into two lines, here they are, as culled from Miss Nelson's long, informative and professional story:

"When Mrs. Cosell first met her husband he was a smart aleck boy."

"My husband would like to be a journalist, but he's really a ham ..."

SUDDEN THOUGHT: Something was bothering us during the holidays in connection with all those football games, and it wasn't until just this moment that we put our finger (actually, fingers — we do type with two of them) on it. It was the decals so many of the teams sports on the helmets of their defensive squads. You know, those awards the boys get for the "big plays" or the "hard hits," or whatever.

What worried us, subconsciously, we suppose, is what would happen to such teams if they ran out of space on their helmets.

Would the guys, knowing they couldn't possibly receive any more visual recognition, just quit making big plays or hitting hard?

Would they start putting the decals on their shoulder pads? Would they be issued one big block decal with small oak leaf clusters or red stars added to it to depict further big plays or hard hits?

Would they be issued bigger helmets — or possibly coule-decker helmets?

And why should the defense only be graced with decals? Why couldn't quarterbacks have decals for completed passes, ends for passes received, running backs for times carried ball, offensive linemen for recovered fumbles, kickers for field goals, punt returners for fair catches? etc.

We tell you, it's matters like this which keep us up nights. We think this problem of what to do with excess decals should be looked into — nay, investigated.

COPIOUS THOUGHT It's easy to tell that Bill Sharman is coaching the Lakers, apart from their winning record. Glance at the NBA free throw stats and you'll find that three of the top 10 free throwers (Gail Goodrich, Happy Hairston, Jerry West) are Lakers players. Also note that the Warriors haven't had more than one man among the top 10 in that category since Sharman left.

TAG END: That column on curling we did recently was snipped toward the end because of space problems, and wouldn't you know it? They snipped our favorite line — probably the only good line in the story.

We were talking about how the club is curling on a renovated ice skating rink, which is like a major league baseball team playing on a sandlot field. We concluded:

"So that's why the San Francisco Curling Club, which curls in Burlingame, is currently scouting new prospects, and playing up the wrinkle that curling may be the only sport in the world where women are absolutely equal to men, in both acceptability and accomplishment."

"Anything that will put Woman's Lib on ice, we're for."

So you didn't like that one after all? Wasn't worth the effort? Well, it was better than our original ending, the one about a Canadian club on the rocks.

Jeff Dominates Wednesday Play

By JERRY LITTRELL

Seldom has one player dominated a game so completely without an outpouring of points of rebounds as Jefferson High School's Kenny Smith did Wednesday afternoon in Daly City.

That's where the Indians ran up their second win of the North Peninsula League season with a defense-minded 49-32 victory over punchless Oceana High School.

In other conference action Westmoor downed Serramonte, 59-52 while South San Francisco broke into the win column against Half Moon Bay, 87-74, and Terra Nova edged El Camino, 54-52.

Smith scored only nine points but offense was not his real worth to the Indians. Simply by standing there on the court he scared the teeth out of the Sharks. He blocked four shots and had two other psychological goaltending calls thrown his way as the Sharks were just unable to penetrate within.

Oceana forced just about every shot in the second half when the Sharks missed just 12 points, and they missed numerous easy angles by trying trick twisters in case Smith was somewhere in the vicinity.

Jefferson's press completely rattled the Shark guards also and added another dimension to Oceana's lack of abilities Wednesday. The Sharks' overall mark is a solid 7-3 but it was a rough outing against the title-bound Indians.

Jefferson's sagging defense, designed to stop front-liners Tom Harper and Terry Johnston, worked to perfection as the Sharks were unwilling to take the offered foul-line shots, just fee throws with the clock running. Jeff pulled ahead by as many as 13 points in the first half only to have the Sharks make their final run before intermission good enough to cut the lead to six. But the lead jumped right back to 15 after the half and once was as high as 23.

Westmoor likewise had a 23-point lead against Serramonte but with starting guard Jim Woods on the bench with five fouls and the Ram squad committing all sorts of ballhandling mistakes, the Regents made the game interesting in the final period.

The Rams contributed to their own downfall by missing 21 free throws, half of their 42 attempts. Usually reliable forward Gavin Long himself missed 11 of 14 tries and only the inaccuracy at the charity stripe kept the Regents within scoring distance.

Tied by a surprising Half Moon Bay squad at halftime, South San Francisco came out with a frantic third period of action that saw the Warriors shoot to a 13-point lead and go on to their first win of the 1972 conference season.

Junior center Lynn Simmons controlled the defensive boards and had a classic scoring duel going with opposing junior center Pete Peterson, but it was the inside work of senior Brad LeFler in the second half plus the ball handling of Mason Larkin that set up the S.S.F. victory.

Peterson, who wound up with 25, had 19 in the first half but the Warriors double-teamed him after intermission and pretty well contained him.

John Racanelli's jumper with one minute remaining and a single free throw by Ron MacArthur with 24 seconds left gave Terra Nova its first win of the season over Camino. The Colts were playing without Kevin Hornick, out with the flu, but forward Mark Spivey put in 21 points to take up some slack.

Racanelli was the big story however, as he scored 24, eight in the final period, and had 15 rebounds. George Yaron had seven assists for the Tigers, now 3-8 overall.

D.C. Boys Cage Play Off to Exciting Start

The Boys Basketball League sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division got off to an excellent start last week. Thirty games were played in five gymnasiums and over 700 boys and their coaches are involved in this program.

The following summary itemizes the scores, standings and outstanding players from January 8.

FOURTH GRADE All games played at Colma School

There was some very exciting basketball played in the three divisions. The central division games were played, two western and two eastern to wrap up the fourth grade games.

Central Division

The Holy Angels Dons defeated the PAL Globetrotters 19-8. L. T. Ryan led the Holy Angels attack with eight big points and Jim Ryan was high for PAL as he scored four points for the losers. The OLM Tigers in one of the most exciting fourth grade games in recent history downed a determined Oph Hawks team that kept coming back by a final score of 27-23. Peter Teahan of the Tigers scored 12 points for the winners and Dan Molieri matched that total for the losers as he also put through 12 points.

Western Division

The Western Division seems to play all their games very close. If this is any indication of how the league will go throughout the season, we are really in for some heart stopping basketball. The OLM Lions squeaked past the Holy Angels Saints by a final score of 14-12. Glen Nolan was outstanding for the Holy Angels team as he scored 10 points but the over-all play of the whole OLM team was too much to overcome. The other Western Division game was even closer as the PAL Super-sonics edged by the PAL Greats on a last second basket by a score of 8-7. Mike Christman was high for the Super-sonics as he had four and Frank McPartland put in three for the Greats.

Eastern Div. (4th Grade)

The OLM Bandits led by Jim Crowley and Chris Kanelopolous who each scored six points crushed the Holy Angels Gaels 26-4. In the last game in the Eastern Division, the PAL Tigercats clawed their way past a strong Oph Cardinals team by a final score of 10-6. Dave Liston was outstanding for PAL as he scored four points. Ken Ray scored four for the OLPH team and played a great game all round.

Fifth grade — Three Eastern conference games were played and two Central games in a day filled with action.

Eastern Conference

PAL Serramonte Tigers beat St. Thomas More 18-10. High point man for PAL was Don Bunch with eight. Mark Doran also sparked the winners with a good all round game. High for St. Thomas More was Jim McCerny with six while Bob Walsh scored five and packed up some assists.

AAA Warriors outscored the PAL Chargers 20-2 in another game. Joe Grambo of AAA scored 10 points and was helped along by Danny Polan's six points. Ken Merrill scored the lone basket for PAL.

In the final Eastern Conference game, Beth Israel Judea outshot the Holy Angels Basketthangers 16-6. Randy Layton had eight points for Beth Israel and Ross Herwitz helped the win with great defense. Danny Regan, Edmund Hastings and Jeff Gant each scored two points for the Basketthangers.

Central Division was marked by two high scoring games — Holy Angels Bounders whipping PAL Serramonte Vikings 29-18 and PAL Tigers outlasting OLPH Spartans 27-17.

Greg Simon led the Bounders with 11 points and was helped by Paul Erickson's six points and great board work. Paul Countessino scored eight points and recorded numerous steals for the Vikings' cause. Bobby Christmas also played a good game for the PAL team.

In the OLPH-PAL game, it was the scoring of Pierre Wise that was the difference. Pierre led all scorers of the day with 17 big tallies leading PAL on to victory. Gary Foppiano played an excellent defensive game also. For OLPH Tom Baldwin scored five points and Waylen Williams added four.

Sixth Grade Central Div.

The Central Division of the sixth grade had three very exciting and fast moving games to open the basketball season. The AAA Crusaders led by Mark Freitas who scored 15 points defeated a tough opponent, the LBYA Globetrotters, by a final score of 25-20. Keith Anderson scored ten points for the Globetrotters in this closely fought game. In other action in the Central Division, the Holy Angels' Green Devils the OLM Panthers by a final score of 24-13. Don Ciardella with 14 points and Marty Rea with seven points led the Green Devils to this opening game victory. In the closest game in the Division, the OLPH Crusaders squeaked by the PAL

Warriors 21-19 in a game that saw the lead go back and forth. Excellent team play by both teams made this one of the most exciting games of the day.

Eastern Division

The Eastern Division saw Beth Israel Judea get off on a winning note as they downed the Holy Angels Demons 23-11. Keith Harband and Jeff Segol were high point men for Beth Israel with nine and eight points respectively. In other Eastern action, George Papageorge had an outstanding game for the Hunts Bruins as he hit on two 15-foot jump shots to put his team in the lead and go ahead to win the game 33-26. The OLM Fogtrotters through a great team effort kept the game close all the way until Papageorge did his thing. In another tight contest, the PAL Bearcats downed the PAL Wildcats by a final score of 26-22. Great team play by both teams and good sportsmanship made this one of the best games played.

Seventh Grade — Eastern Div.

In an inter-organizational battle, the LBYA Rockets pulled an upset and defeated the LBYA Bullets 28-21 in a very exciting and hard fought game. The Rockets were led by Craig Adam's ten points. Ken Howard was high point man for the Bullets as he shot in seven points for the losers. In other Eastern action, the OLM Wildcats downed a determined St. Thomas More team 35-30. Great team play by both squads kept the game interesting all the way.

Central Division

The Seventh Grade Central Division playing at Westmoor High School got off to an auspicious start as the OLM Raiders moved past the AAA Rebels in a closely fought contest by the final score of 32-26. Ed Migale scored 12 big points and Steve Riley chipped in with six for the winners. Kevin Chase was outstanding in pulling down rebounds for the Raiders. In other Central Division action, the LBYA Lobos upset a strong Holy Angels Green Machine team that down't figure to lose too many games. Craig Garrity with 12 and Blake Chong with ten points each led the Lobos to their 33-21 victory. Terry King played a great defensive game for the Green Machine but this wasn't enough to overcome the strong offense of the Lobos.

Eighth-Grade—Central Div.

The class of the Boys Basketball League is played in the Eighth Grade Central Division where four very strong teams compete for the city championship. The first game saw the PAL Buc's defeat the OLM Wildcats by a final score of 47-27. The PAL Bucs with strong all round play by the whole team were led to victory by Rick Wyatt who scored 20. He was followed in the scoring by

Fast-Moving Environment Bringing Educational Problems to Be Solved

By BOB PETERSON
Second in Series

A faster moving, more involved environment is bringing with it more problems to be solved.

And promoters of PPBS (Planning, Programming, Budgeting System) in the schools say these problems will never be solved if the school buries its head in the sand, without being aware of new possibilities.

The pro-PPBS group says that if new techniques, teaching devices and materials are not used, the curriculum cannot possibly keep pace with the changes that need to be reflected in the lives and education of the students.

Some experts say it is far more difficult for a child to develop clear values today than it was in the simpler life of the turn of the century.

One major reason given for this position is that there has been a change in the family, where values develop. The change is caused by working mothers, broken homes and geographic mobility. The result is growing confusion.

With the family supposedly defaulting, society passed the buck, leaving it to the schools to help children clarify for themselves what they value.

PPBS, say proponents, is just another tool that can be used to this end. Like a pencil, it can be used to write beautiful prose, or four-letter words on restroom walls, depending on who is using it.

PPBS promoters say there must be a desire to innovate. They say there must also be an availability of resources (such as behavioral knowledge) to make new actions possible and analysis relevant. Thirdly, say the proponents, there must be decision-makers who possess confidence in their capability to formulate effective policies.

PPBS is one part of a massive innovative and experimental school program authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Act of 1965.

Federal Aid
The act launched a federal aid program so broad in application as to constitute the first general aid-to-education program ever passed by Congress.

It contained very few restrictions on the dispersal of funds, leaving the discretion mainly to the state education agencies. The local districts could spend the funds in any way approved by these agencies, provided they took into account the needs of poor children.

Operation PEP (Prepare Educational Planners), set up in San Mateo, is one experimental project launched through the program, and is credited as the beginning of the integration of PPBS in the state's educational system.

Scientists and technologists from industry and education developed an instructional program to assist educators in translating system analysis and management techniques from an industrial to an educational context.

Operation PEP was a product of the San Mateo County PACE (Projects to Advance Creativity in Education) Center. It was also a statewide project.

Opponents look to the PACE centers as the hub of PPBS. They point to one Operation PEP report that says 296 key state educators and administrators participated in its functions. These people, say opponents, have a direct or indirect contact with almost ten and one-half million public school pupils, and an influence on their instructors.

Fallen Short

PPBS was officially introduced to government in the U.S. Department of Defense early in 1961. But most of the concepts and procedures were developed in the 1950s by the Rand Corporation "Think Tank" of Santa Monica.

The refined PPBS introduced to all agencies of the federal government in 1965 has fallen short of the expectations it held half a dozen years ago. Many top officials took PPBS as another administrative procedure imposed by outsiders. PPBS also failed to solve the one persisting dilemma of administrative innovation: how to introduce a change without its becoming an additional layer of administrative red tape.

One agency, however, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), used PPBS for shifting program priorities and developing claims for new programs, such as PPBS in the schools.

Then in 1967 California's Advisory Commission on School District Budgeting and Accounting was established by legislative statute to recommend to the State Board of Education procedures for implementing program budgeting and accounting for school districts.

Implementation statewide of this as yet not approved budgeting system is July 1, 1973, a fact opponents are trying to make very clear.

However, almost all installations are in, and the system is only waiting on the initial goals and objectives to be fully operational.

A final draft of a revised school accounting manual is scheduled to be submitted for consideration by the state board in May of 1972.

This will allow school district budgets to be prepared in the new format for the first operational year 1973-74.

Rick Yuzon and Peter Eliopoulos who both scored nine for the winners. The OLM Wildcats were led by Gary Cassilagio who was second in scoring for the game and ended up with 11 points. In the other Central Division game, the OLP Bucks edged past the AAA Buckeyes by a final score of 38-32. Dan O'Shea and Jerry McNeil led the Bucks with 17 and 15 points respectively. Art Zisen kept AAA in the game all the way as he contributed 16 points in this losing cause.

Western Div.

The start of the Western Division saw the two LBYA teams dominate the opening week's results as the Globetrotters defeated the Holy Angels Patriots downed the PAL Bruins 43-29. In the LBYA Bullets in the Globetrotter-Patriots game, Jim Ryan hit for 11 points and Dan Ogans scored five for the Globetrotters. The Patriots' Earl Cesena scored six in a losing cause. The LBYA Bullets were led to victory by Bobby Anderson and Jeff Hendricks who scored ten and seven points respectively for the Bullets. Kevin Carew was high point man in the game and kept the Bruins from falling too far behind as he contributed 11 points for the losers.

Eastern Div.

The Eastern Division got off to a roaring success as two evenly matched teams hooked up in an overtime battle with the St. Andrews Scots edging past the AAA Lakers in a closely fought game by a final score of 40-36. At the end of regulation play, the score was knotted 34 all. In the overtime period, Matt Scheffler and Keith Pult scored to the Scots. Matt Scheffler ended the game with 15 points and Keith Pult with eight. The Lakers were led by Glicio Menanquil with 18 and Steve Quasstrom with 12. In the final game in the Eastern Division, the OLM Warriors downed St. Thomas More 27-16. Steve Dobberstein scored six points for OLM and K. Peterson four points for St. Thomas More.

Her Embraces Are Cut Short

"Go to sleep, my little oaf,
Mama's little sugar loaf,
Go to sleep and stay that way
For at least a night and day.
I'm no angel up above
Don't abuse my mother love.
I can stand so much and then
Mama wants maturer men..."

—Dorothy Parker

PREFACING IT WITH the above lines, the editors of "Dialogue Magazine" have published Jaroldeen Edwards' article "Full House" to present the thoughts of today's mother. In doing so they have given us an article that is fun to read and full of the thoughts of a wise woman.

Mrs. Edwards is a mother who writes of herself, "I can't talk to population explosionists. My mere existence is a source of contention and disgust to them." She has eleven children.

Each day in her life is long but full of many things: "undone, many just begun." She writes, "I wake up early in the morning to the sound of my husband's voice. But it is not really an awakening, rather it is a continuing."

For night as we used to know it no longer comes to our house. There is a lull in activity, yes; but in the way of our youth, when night and sleep were a total experience that blocked the chain of day, a precious all-in-one piece unconsciousness, an ending and a forgetting; in that sense night does not come.

Even in sleep there is a consciousness of caring, a wakefulness that tests the murmur of the house through the darkened hours. The hum of the refrigerator, a last dryer of clothes with one clonking sneaker, water flushing, a cough, children padding on pajamaed feet through the always lighted halls, requests for drinks, solace for bad dreams, or a short diagnosis of undentified aches."

SHE FINDS THAT in the morning her husband is elegant. "He comes from the dressing room in his starched white shirt, bright tie, polished shoes, face shining from shower and shave. All the beautiful odors, soap, shaving lotion, starch, and the masculine smell of his suit, mingle in that early morning embrace."

Her embraces with her husband are cut short for she must meet the children "as they hurtle into the kitchen, shoes in hand, long shining hair, books a-clutter, hunting for gym suits or brushes or pens. Their day fresh and new. I never get used to seeing them grown so tall and beautiful."

In Mrs. Edwards' home, her bedroom — around the sock drawer — is the hub of the home in the morning and the evening. This gives her an opportunity to check each child — hair, teeth, clothes, homework and chores. She finds that her family moves by the clock. It is inexorable; "So is the school bus. Again at the door the farewells. My cheek is kissed and I forget to wipe off the cereal and milk. Midday I will sometimes touch my cheek and find it still sticky."

AS A MOTHER, she said she believes, "It is an irony that motherhood is the one profession that a dedicated and educated adult can practice for a decade and yet still not be considered an expert. Yet I confess I have confidence in myself and in my role. I believe I do it as well as I am capable of doing anything. I have chosen this life, it does not master me, I master it. I am not its victim, I am its recipient."

To mothers she writes, "Basic order is essential. This to me means beds, dishes, and general pick-up must be done consistently and directly." Nevertheless she often has a feeling that her house is run by "a simple method of selective neglect." She expressed gratitude for dishwashers, refrigerators, dryers, Sesame Street and a big round table where the family can gather, and where homework can be supervised.

A college graduate and a community oriented woman, Mrs. Edwards writes, "My present life as a mother has three profound purposes. (This aside from the relationship with my husband...) The first is to fulfill all my spiritual obligations as I understand them. The second is to educate my children. Educate in the broadcast sense, not just helping them achieve skill and success in school, but giving them a sense of awareness, responsibility and joy. The third is my responsibility to give the best possible physical care to children and home. If any of these three purposes is neglected, the balance and richness of our family is impaired."

MRS. EDWARDS' LIFE is so full, we feel with her when she enjoys a "gorgeous moment to read in a still-sleeping house... or to spend quiet moments with an early-awakened baby."

Her article shows that she represents thousands of American women who have little in common with the false glamour that American women are known for around the world. They, as Shakespeare wrote, "in beauty, education, blood, hold hands with any princess of the world."

A Stolen Bike, Tears

Editor, The Post:

My name is Carla Heaney and I've a brother named Rick. He will be 13 in May. He's always wanted a 10-speed and when Christmas came around, he got the bike of his dreams. It was a lovely Schwinn Varsity. It had double brakes on its sleek racing handle bars. It was metallic brown and had a small but cute rear reflector. He was all set to go on a bike hike with my brothers, Jim (16) and Claus (14). Yesterday, he went to Serramonte and some unthoughtful, unloyal, dispicable creature stole it. Rick cried all day and all night. He had gone there to buy flowers for Grandma's anniversary and now his beautiful 10-speed is gone.

Editor, The Post:

I address this open letter to Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan: In touting your latest public opinion poll as representing a good political guide to public opinion, you infer that the 412 persons who favor (vs. 245 opposed) the continuation of the 380 Freeway through San Bruno's Crestmoor Canyon must express the true majority electorate opinion on this question.

I seriously question the validity of your latest public opinion with respect to the 380 Freeway question because (and of which you are aware) nearly 4000 signatures are on an initiative petition, filed in the San Bruno City Hall, which expresses direct opposition to the 380 Freeway from extending west of the 280 Freeway.

To feed back to you, Mr. Ryan, your own words, "If you disagree with the results of this poll (the 4000 signature initiative petition, in my case, the obvious solution is to persuade the people of San Mateo County of the validity of your position." The only thing that I could possibly add to your quote would be: Good Luck.

Already Low Morale Could Skid More

The proposed amendment to the South San Francisco Personnel Rules and Regulations should never have been drafted, let alone be allowed to get to the discussion stage with adoption a distinct possibility.

A round-table discussion of the proposal is set for Monday night at the South San Francisco West Orange Library. The round-table format, supposedly meant to allow a free exchange, is apropos of the lack of direction too prevalent in that city.

What is being suggested, in essence, is that the Personnel Board do the hiring of all employees for the city. Tammany Hall lives.

An already low city employee morale could hit the skids. Because if this proposal is adopted, the department head would have no say in who is hired to work in his department. And the city manager, a professional hired to run a smooth and efficient operation is put farther into the background.

The proposed amendment will even require the city council, as the appointing power for all department heads, to appoint the first person on the eligible list prepared by the Personnel Board. If they don't like the first choice, they must move on to number two and thence down the list.

THIS SAME requirement holds for the city manager, who now has the authority to make a choice from the top three on the list.

With the passage of this proposed amendment the "rule of three" would become a "rule of one" and that one would be whoever the Personnel Board desires.

How can this be? Well an examination is based on 40 per cent written and 60 per cent oral. Someone who didn't do so hot in the written can make up points in the oral — and a lot of points if he knows the right people. Regardless, the top scorer is not necessarily the best for the job.

Some very important factors can be learned by a department head and city manager through a background investigation after certification to an employment list, things that do not come out either in a written test or an oral interview.

This information would concern work habits, dependability and other personal characteristics. It might even be determined whether a person is over qualified, as well as under qualified for a position.

THE WAY THE proposed change reads, if the city manager decides he doesn't want the first on the list, he must have a good reason. The matter could be appealed to the council for their decision. But that's hardly a consolation. The council appoints the Personnel Board. And anyone would be hard-pressed to prove those appointments are not political.

Even worse, a man not desired by the city manager or a department head, who is forced on them, would be starting work in an awkward position, to say the least.

Why not let a man who is running his department, run it effectively and adequately? He knows what his needs are. They are much more than a mere body to fill an open slot, and even in the case of promotions, certain characteristics are more desirable in particular positions.

THAT "RULE of three" threatening to become a "rule of one" should instead become a "rule of all." All the names on an eligibility list ought to be handed without priority listing to the appropriate department for their perusal.

Their making of the choice right for the department and the city is better than being forced to accept one person from an ego-centered body in the name of fairness.

Wallace Alive And Running

George Wallace is alive — and running — almost everywhere. Larry O'Brien says he's a Republican plot, and the Republicans say he is a Democrat. Each party claims he takes support from the other, and in this, both are right.

What George is, of course, is a national calamity. He runs as a populist. A charismatic speaker, his rhetoric attacks the liberal establishment and the Supreme Court. He appeals to national pride, and calls for law and order.

Plenty of other candidates seek comfortable careers through similar talk. But Wallace is different. Without saying one word, his message follows him about. Wallace stands as a symbol: a symbol that promises to solve the minority problem by turning the clock back two or more decades.

His supporters get the message, and the steady 10 to 12 per cent of the Americans committed to his candidacy are also a symbol. They symbolize a persistent racism that has plagued our nation since its earliest days.

The problem that they and George present is a sticky one. Somehow, Wallace has cleverly upset the two party mechanism, threaten constitutional impasse, and impel a backward drift.

His American Independent Party has proven a hardy weed. In the 1968 election it claimed almost 10 million votes. (Nixon and Humphrey were both short of 32 million.) That year George Wallace received 46 electoral votes, including the entire support of five southern states. Since then AIP candidates have run in many local and district elections including some in California. It should be noted and remembered that in several of these contests the AIP candidate has gathered enough votes to determine the winner.

It is significant that in 1968 one elector (from North Carolina) who ran and won as a Nixon supporter blew it and voted in the Electoral College for Wallace. This man's break with obligation is just the kind of thing that could happen in a Wallace campaign and that of no other candidate. It emphasizes both the breach of Wallace with constitutional tradition and the zealous nature of his supporters.

Third parties have generally languished in the United States. But George's steady pull in the polls makes AIP durability likely. For Wallace is a realist. He doesn't seek victory, and it is doubtful that this pragmatic man has even once indulged in the luxury of the dream of standing beneath the Capitol dome on a cold January day with his hand upon the Holy Bible.

Therein rests his strength. He understands his role and seems happy with it. George Wallace isn't likely to make mistakes of the kind a real candidate might commit. As he dreams no impossible dreams he never appears foolish or overreaching. He gives the image of strength even where and when weak. He is no Stassen.

For Wallace's limited and adroit purposes, victory is won if he can prevent each of the major candidates from securing the votes of a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed. In this unfortunate event, the Congress must select a President, and then, reasons Wallace, bargaining must take place.

Under such circumstances, George Wallace would be one of the most powerful men in American history. He could, and well might break the system.

This should be pondered by his supporters, whether they be registered as Democrats, Republicans, Independents, or members of the American Independent Party. They should be made to understand that their boy is on no rapid ego trip, and that he is not concerned with an idle popularity contest. His challenge is not really against Nixon, Muskie, or Humphrey. He challenges hope, and at the same time endangers constitutional government.

Commandments Of Anti-Lib

IN CASE none of our readers have come across them (if so please advance to something more to your liking), we're re-printing the Ten Commandments for the women of "Anti-Women's Liberation League."

We got them from a source that attended last Thursday's Oceana High School assembly, at which (Miss) J. J. Jarboe attempted to catch the eyes and ears of the students, impressing upon them the virtues of anti-women's libidom.

Our source, admittedly somewhat biased in favor of the lib rather than the anti's, reported that the students were a zinging bunch not altogether supportive of Miss Jarboe's creed.

Also this is not an endorsement of the move... it might have been, but the Bitter Half has her own feelings and we know when to walk the middle road and when to agree wholeheartedly.

THE COMMANDMENTS:

I will always acknowledge male supremacy.
I will at all times be as feminine, charming and beautiful as possible.

I will give love freely to my mate because I know that no man is complete without a woman to love.
I will do all in my power to bring health, happiness and contentment into the life of my mate.

I will educate myself to be as much a companion to my man as possible knowing that the body must be governed by the mind.

I will do all in my power to bring peace into the world, into my home and into the life of my man.

I will do all in my power to shelter my man from pain knowing that both pain and pleasure are part of living but a woman is by nature made to endure more.

I will always be grateful for what my man has gifted me with — whether it is children, a home or simply the pleasure of his presence.

I will try to the fullest to live my life in such a way that my man can say with pride — "This woman is mine. Isn't she great?"

I will wear my safety pin with pride ending each day grateful to be a woman, knowing that without women, no man would be alive today; therefore, I shall show respect for all other women, knowing it was also from a woman that I came.

Our Viewpoint

Crimes Against the Elderly

With distressing frequency the daily police reports of Peninsula law enforcement agencies are recording an increasing number of robberies committed against elderly people.

Most of these are crimes in the streets although a few of them include forcible entries into homes and apartments where occupants are terrorized into silence while thieves loot their purses and take small articles.

Most prevalent, however, are purse-snatchings with elderly women as the victims. The amount of money stolen is usually pitifully small except in cases where the woman has just cashed a social security, pension or welfare check. There are other cases where the stolen purses have contained needed identification cards, credit cards or irreplaceable, treasured keepsakes.

The worst feature of these robberies is the vicious brutality with which they are committed. The modern breed of purse-snatchers are not content to "take the money and run." All too often they knock the women to the ground before grabbing the purse, seeking in this way to prevent a struggle and to cause delay in giving an alarm. Older men are sometimes viciously mugged by one or more assailants while their wallets are torn from pockets.

Elderly people are fragile physically and can be badly hurt by these attacks. They may experience heart attacks or apoplexy as well as other physical injuries. The fright, alone, can haunt them the rest of their lives and force them into excessive timidity which makes them unwilling to leave their homes except in times of absolute necessity.

These crimes against older persons, sad to relate, are mostly carried out by young people who seem to be totally ignorant of compassion or moral scruples. Even when they are caught they display no sense of shame and seem to rely on the protection afforded them by their juvenility to avoid punishment.

This is the most cowardly sort of criminality and its prevalence will continue to grow unless the courts begin to mete out punishment of sufficient severity to halt it.

Crimes against helpless children always seem to inspire law enforcement, and the courts, to effective preventive measures. Crimes against the helpless elderly are just as reprehensible and can be far more dangerous. Stern and well-publicized punishment is the only means of halting them.

North County Environment

THAT SOUTH COUNTY group out to defeat two of the county's three supervisors up for reelection bewilders me.

It has selected two supervisors — Bill Werder and Jim Fitzgerald — for dumping, and commended Mrs. Jean Fassler for getting the best example regarding environmental protection, or some such. And they purport to sound the feelings of all the people throughout the county. T'ain't the way I heard it, bub.

The way I heard it was one fella said to the other fella... "Why don't supervisor Fassler use the power of her office to get that Broderick-Terry duel site between Daly City and San Francisco all fixed up?" And the other fella said to the first fella: "And what happened to the regional park on San Bruno Mountain?"

No siree, bub, environmental protection in the South County may be getting a big boost from Supervisor Fassler, but there are persons still waiting to see what happens in the north.

ENVIRONMENT (CONT.) — Boy Scouts will be aiding Daly City officials in planting trees at the new Gellert Park in Serramonte next week. It is the first step to landscape the park by parks chief Augie Conci.

On hand to turn a shovel or two of dirt will be Councilman Louis J. Papan, Councilman Tony Giamonna and newly appointed City Treasurer (and D.C. realtor) Anthony (Tony) Zidich.

What has a City Treasurer got to do with trees? Well for one thing money doesn't grow on them (a little levity, folks). No, but serious. Zidich was one of the responsables in getting the park when he was a recreational commissioner.

FREUDIAN SLIP? Hal Schuette, challenger in the South San Francisco city treasurer election, is handing out publicity flyers all over town. Schuette notes his qualifications (a banker for 12 years) and modestly informs he is a member of the "South San Francisco Capitol IMPORTANT Committee." We are at a loss to outline what the duties of this committee are, but we can say (now that we've read it) that whatever these duties may be they are IMPORTANT. P.S. But don't tell the city council!

COMMUNICATIONS BRIDGE — A joint Daly City police-Westmoor High students venture may pay off. Police Sgt. Jim Barron has agreed to meet with students on any subject as a means toward better mutual understanding. Barron will be available from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. Fridays. Traffic tickets, drugs, parental problems, police policies — you name it and Barron said he'll gladly talk about it.

PEACE SYMBOL sported about by many of today's youth is a hangover from the Middle Ages, according to a writer for the Empire State Mason, a periodical. According to the writer, the origin of the "crow's foot inside a circle" was a sign of opposition to Christianity.

It is an anti-Christ symbol, the story goes. The symbol actually is a broken inverted cross, the author of the story declares.

So far we've heard it is an Indian war sign, a doodle by General Curtis Lemay back when he was thinking up a new bomber design, a self-portrait of the mayor of Timbuctoo and an obscene gesture first recorded at the Battle of Bastogne. If you know what it really is please tell.

THE FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT by attorney and former Municipal Judge Paul Hupf that he is indeed running (as we predicted here) in the upcoming Daly City elections come April, is a clear-cut indication to us that veteran Councilman Frank Pacelli IS NOT going to run again (also predicted here some time ago). Why? For openers, Pacelli and Hupf are longtime pals.

Incumbent Councilman Tony Giamonna has let it be known that he is running for reelection and Hupf makes no secret of the fact that Tony is also a good friend.

It seems doubtful that Hupf would jump into anything which would pit him against either man.

Thus, our prediction of many moons ago that Frank Pacelli is not running will come true. Bet on it!

ADD TO HUPF — In announcing his candidacy at last week's meeting of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce (of which he is first vice president) Hupf outlined part of his platform as being a concern with the future of the city, especially as regards BART, Mission Street rehabilitation, and redevelopment. His desire is to look into methods of expanding the commercial growth of Daly City in a move towards widening the city's tax base to help offset property taxes now burdening homeowners, he said.

ACCOUNTANT AL BELOTS BELOTZ SAID IT — "If I have to have a heart transplant I want the heart of an Internal Revenue agent. I want something that's never been used."

BEVERLY DIKAS HAS replaced resigned Chamber director Don Halverson on the D.C. Chamber of Commerce. Halverson, an exec with PG&E, has shipped out to San Francisco.

IT'S NICE to hear from Postmaster Vince Murphy that Daly City is still a name on a postmark and not a number. The Post Office Department has been gradually changing city names to numbers. This news came to you direct from 014-24-3255, over and out.

IT'S THE REAL THING — Rick Toto, manager of Toto's restaurant, is not the owner of Toto's. Frank Spadarella is! But "Toto" is Rick's real surname. Confused? The name "Toto" came from Spadarella's dad, whom everyone called "Toto." Now do you understand?

FLAT OF OUR SWORD to all those who seem to find perverse delight in splitting Daly City into factions by constant condemnation of persons who live on the westside of Junipero Serra Freeway.

Frankly, this person is sick and tired of listening to these childlike bickerings. In recent years this type of talk has been on the increase. City officials don't represent this or that section because they all live in Westlake, the story goes. Balderdash, we say!

Even when Councilman Ed Dennis served the city these same narrowminded thinkers denied the fact he lived outside of Westlake. Daly City, it would seem, needs people working together — not a troika galloping off in different directions.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Nick Gust's Winning Three-Way Combination

One of the best three-way combinations in the Pacific area is Nick Gust's food and entertainment center — all nicely situated on the ocean front at Rockaway Beach — The Moonraker, Papagayo Room and Nick's Restaurant and Lounge. The nautical Moonraker serves cocktails and gourmet dinners, with service from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m., Wednesdays through Sundays. Also special banquet facilities. Don Kelly presides over the organ. For pure dining pleasure, set your sails for this romantic setting. . . . Downstairs is the Papagayo Room, where authentic Mexican dishes are drawing raves from the local set as well as visitors from far and wide. Traditional dishes such as Arroz con Pollo, and Chorizo con Huevos con Refritos (sausage with eggs and refried beans) are expertly prepared, and the portions are huge. The Combination Plate is a trencherman's platter of several enticing dishes. Open from 4 p.m., Wednesdays through Sundays. . . . Across the street is Nick's Restaurant, where service begins at the early hour of 10 a.m. and features breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus. Steak and seafood are specialties here. Plus features include the organ renditions of Jim Payer, dancing to the Del Carlo Trio, and vocals by Mary Ann Hay. Having a special party or banquet? This is where it's at!

BIG RED IS HAPPY — With Stanford's second Rose Bowl triumph, nobody hereabouts could match the elation of The Big Red's biggest booster, Adrian "Red" Stickney. He is a lifetime sports fan, who established the Stickney Sports Foundation which honors the "Stanford Athlete of the Month." The owner of the Stickney Hickory Houses and the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto travels with the Indians, lending his strong moral support and confidence. "His Boys" came through with flying colors in Pasadena and "Red's" beaming smile still hasn't worn off.

Diamond Lil's Coupon A. "Jewel"

Diamond Lil, in the person of the restaurant's pretty manager, Toni De Sanders, believes in fighting inflation. With this in mind, Toni is running a coupon on Bright Lights Friday which is an extraordinary food value. With his coupon, valid until Sunday, January 23, diners are presented with a complete Top Sirloin Steak dinner for only $1.95. This includes baked potato, sour cream and a visit to the buffet salad bar. A child's plate (burger, French fries and jello) is priced at only 89 cents. . . . Kathy Dee, who presides at the piano bar in the lounge at Bruno's, San Mateo, spent the Christmas Holidays in the Los Angeles area. Christmas Eve found the perky entertainer celebrating her birthday at a Beverly Hills bash, given for her by a group of old college chums. . . . When you speak of restaurants that enjoy a regular patronage, be certain to mention the La Cigogne in San Mateo. This outstanding French restaurant has a certain gentleman who dines here at least three times a week. He's president of a major oil company, and he glowingly describes the dining spot as being the "Best restaurant in the Western United States." So, La Cigogne's chef, Fernand Wagner, receives even more accolades.

Margie Brandon's Magnetic Power

Organist Margie Brandon, who activates the ivories at Clancy's giant organ bar, was told that her music was like a magnet. When Margie asked "why," the patron replied, "I always intend to go straight home each night after work. But as I draw near Clancy's, I'm attracted to you." . . . The fun-lovin' gang at The Putter in Burlingame will use any excuse to throw a party. However, the gala bash planned for this week is strictly legitimate. It's their second anniversary celebration, and you can bet that the club's "regulars" will be in record attendance. The fun begins at 3 p.m. Wednesday, and continues for two days. A free buffet will be served from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. . . . The Sound Barrier has moved to The Band Stand in Redwood City. The group, which will entertain Friday and Saturday nights, and again during the early a.m. breakfast shows, can still be seen on Monday and Tuesday nights at DeeJay's. . . . Dan Boyd, who has interests in several Peninsula niteries, is very excited about his new find, Afterglow, a new band also showcased at DeeJay's in Belmont. You can dance to their sounds nightly, Tuesdays through Saturdays. Stop by and see if Dan is right in his opinion that it is one of the best groups ever to perform in this area.

Hotel St. Francis New Dutch Kitchen

A series of watercolor paintings depicting old Dutch kitchen scenes was created by artist Thomas William Jones to enhance the interior of the recently opened Dutch Kitchen in the St. Francis Hotel. The antique bakery theme which allows guests to watch fresh pastries and bread items being created on a specially designed table in front of a large working oven is a highlight of the Dutch Kitchen. The waitresses and bus boys are authentically costumed. . . . The Fujiya Teppan-Steak restaurant, owned by the Fujiya Company of Japan, operator or more than 300 restaurants in Japan's eight principal cities, will soon open at the corner of Sacramento and Battery Streets. The interior will be an exact duplicate of the ancient Nijo Castle, maintained for the Emperors in Kyoto, Japan. Traditional Japanese seafood, chicken and beef specialties will be prepared by the chef at the table, in the "Teppan" style of cooking. . . . Bob Guccione, editor and publisher of Penthouse Magazine, mixed business with pleasure while staying at the Desert Inn in Las Vegas. One of his projects was photographing a Penthouse model around the DI.

Panel Meeting
On Crisis in Education Slated

The North Peninsula Branch of the American Association of University Women will present a panel on "Crisis in Public Education — What are the Alternatives?" January 24, at 8 p.m. in the San Bruno Public Library.

The public is invited to attend.

Panelists were selected from among the alternative schools in the area.

Representing Nueva Day School in San Mateo will be Miss Roberta Williams, second grade teacher who is in charge of contracts.

The contract system is a written agreement between student and teacher stating the student's chosen assignment toward short term goals. Accompanying her will be the director Dr. James Olivero.

Mrs. Leo Miner, whose children have attended Notre Dame Elementary School in Belmont, will discuss and show examples of the project plan at work.

The project plan uses published learning units including stated objectives and activities through which the student progresses at his own pace.

Eleanor Wiltrout, Nancy Richardson and Gilbert Valasco, three teachers involved with an experimental open education plan at George Hall Elementary School in San Mateo, will present their program planned for a combined group of students from kindergarten through fifth grade who are together throughout the school day.

Mrs. Andrew Williams, a teacher funded by the Carnegie Foundation for the retraining of teachers in the problem-solving technique and self-directed approach to learning, will explain her project.

Moderator for the group will be Mrs. W. R. Gerk, chairman for Crisis in Public Education for the AAUW.

SB Offers
Winter Slate
For Males

The City of San Bruno Recreation Department is now offering its Winter Program for men. Activities will be open to San Bruno male residents age eighteen and up.

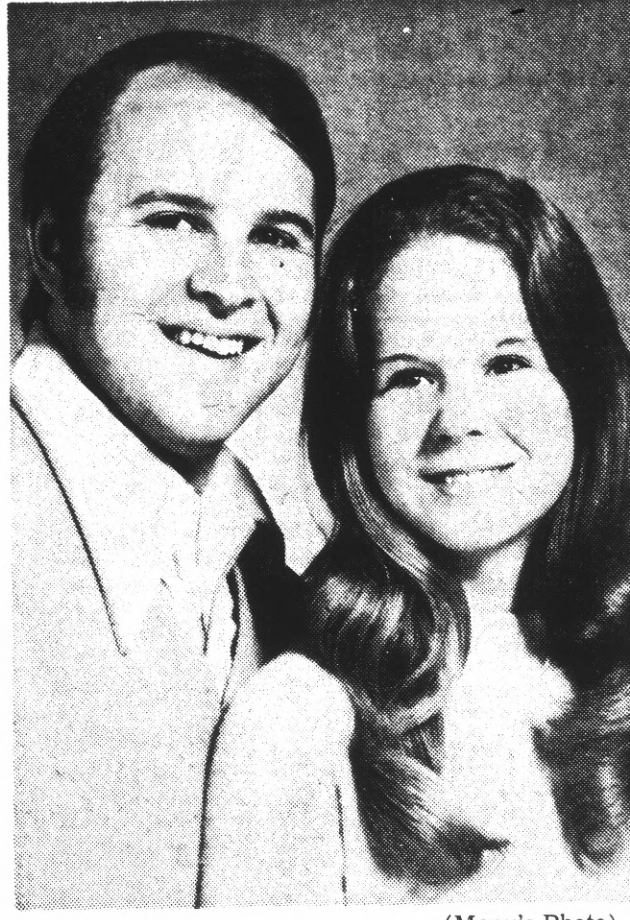

Price of membership to the newly-formed Adult Activities Program is $1 for the year.

The adult program will include Monday evening and Saturday afternoon basketball.

The Recreation Department also has planned a three-man-hunch basketball league for men above 30 years old. The leagues will be very informal, emphasizing competitive low-key play.

Teams must have at least three players and no more than five. Men are urged to form their own teams, however, the department will try to form teams of extra individuals. Fee for the league will be 50 cents. It will last approximately eight weeks.

The War Memorial recreation center gymnasium will also be available for San Bruno organizations on Thursday evenings. For further information, phone the Recreation Department at 583-5295.
